Truman Appoints 3-Man Price Decontrol Board

AGENCY TO DECIDE WHICH ITEMS STAY UNDER OPA POWERS

Porter Reveals Ceilings Have Been Removed From Almost Half Of Foods

MEAT, DAIRY PRODUCTS MAY BE TOTALLY FREED

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—President Truman today named the men of "judgment and fairness" who will form the decontrol board set up under the new price control act.

Roy L. Thompson, chairman. He is a southern banker and economist professor and has been president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans since 1933.

George H. Mead. He is a middle western industrialist, organizer and board chairman of the Mead Pulp and Paper Company of Dayton, O. He was chairman of the Industrial Advisory Board under the NRA and later an industry member of the War Labor Board and member of the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization.

Deputy W. Bell. A veteran Treasury Department official. He finally became acting director of the budget and treasury undersecretary, resigning to take a position with a Washington bank.

These men, subject to Senate confirmation, will have the final say on what items shall or shall not be under price ceilings. They will be paid at the rate of $12,000 a year.

The decontrol board, charged with determining whether meat, dairy products and other items conditionally exempt from ceiling.

BUS LINES TO QUIT SERVING

West Monroe To Be Without Transportation After July 31

Who wants the city bus franchise in West Monroe?

The best offer is likely to be accepted promptly by the city across the river. This because on July 31, the present service by the City of Cuz Rogers will cease to run, the franchise being surrendered at that time.

City officials of West Monroe have been notified that on the date named, all transportation provided by this company will be ended. However the Louisiana Motor Coaches, an inter-city bus line, also operated by Mr. Rogers, will continue to operate. Mr. Rogers stated the present bus service about five years ago. At this time routes served are on north and south sides of West Monroe. Brown paper mill, Bawcomville, Single addition, White's ferry, Claiborne and Cheniere. Lines operating across the new traffic bridge to Monroe eliminated entry into this city a few weeks ago, when objection was made by residents living near the bridge and the loading and unloading, as they stated it caused too much congestion and disturbance in residence sections. Since then, the buses have been halted at the west end of the traffic bridge.

It is stated that traffic has been much lighter the past few weeks.

The franchise under which the lines operated required that two percent of the gross receipts of the company were payable to the city of West Monroe.

It is stated that there is probability that others will seek the franchise and that a bid that will be of the best interest to West Monroe will be acceptable to the municipality.

TRUMAN CREATES BOARD FOR RAILROAD INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—President Truman today created an emergency board to investigate a dispute between the railroads and Pullman conductors, thus staying for 60 days a strike called for 6 p. m. EST Aug. 7.

The dispute, involving 2,700 Pullman conductors represented by the Order of Railway Conductors, is over interpretation of a recent wage increase. The board has 30 days to report, after which no change in existing management-employee relationships can be made for another 30 days.

The wage increase recently granted was $1.48 a day. The conductors say this should be granted on the basis of a monthly increase of 30 times $1.48.

The Pullman company, according to H. W. Fraser, president of the conductors' union, has insisted on dividing the figure by eight and multiplying that by the number of hours a conductor works in a month.

Armed Jews Attack Detention Barracks

British Sentries Fire On Band; Military Cordon Thrown Around Entire Area; Soldiers Instructed To Shoot On Sight

JERUSALEM, July 27.—(AP)—An armed band made an unsuccessful attack tonight on the military detention barracks in Jerusalem where police are believed to be holding 376 Jews arrested in a roundup of suspects following the dynamiting of the King David Hotel.

Shots were exchanged between sentries and the attackers, and British troops and police immediately threw a cordon around the entire Talbieh quarter. Soldiers were under "shoot on sight" orders.

Every person on the street in the quarter, which is predominantly Arab and has not been under curfew, was ordered into his home. No passes were valid.

The attack followed by five days the dynamiting of the King David Hotel, headquarters of the Palestine government and the British military establishment, in which the toll has now risen to 50 dead and 25 missing.

It could not be learned immediately whether there had been any casualties in the exchange of shots or whether any arrests had been made.

A military source refused to divulge further information, but said that "Talbieh will be a very good place to stay out of tonight."

The attack came as the Arab executive in a full session flatly rejected the British-American cabinet committee proposal to divide Palestine into federated Jewish and Arab provinces, and refused "to sit with Jews or participate with Jews in any manner in any conference."

This announcement was made by Dr. Hussein Khalidi, secretary of the executive, shortly after Dr. Izzat Tannous, retiring secretary of the Arab higher committee, declared that adoption of such a plan would mean "perpetual war in the Middle East."

Dr. Tannous said that "from the Arab point of view no solution can be accepted unless it recognizes the just claims of the Arabs on the basis of their natural rights in their homeland."

Dr. Khalidi released this resolution, which he said was passed by the executive.

"Whereas the Arabs of Palestine have repeatedly refused to sit with Jews in any conference; therefore be it resolved that the Arabs of Palestine shall not sit with Jews in any conference."

AUSTRIANS SEIZED FOR DEFYING REDS

Two Members Of Peoples Party Arrested After Ignoring Russian Warning

VIENNA, July 27.—(AP)—Two members of the Peoples Party were arrested last night by the Russians while on their way home from the meeting at which parliament nationalized 81 industries, including some claimed by Russian as reparations, Austrian government sources said officially today.

The legislators were Hans Kottulinsky and Ferdinand Pirisch, both of Styria.

Austrian government officials said they had been unable early today to learn why the men were detained and on what charges. They said the men were taken to Russian headquarters at Aspern at midnight and held.

REUNITED PASTOR AND WIFE PLAN HAPPY 2ND HONEYMOON

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—(AP)—The Rev. John Paul Lambert and his wife, who mysteriously fled from her family last Sunday "just on an impulse," were planning a long second honeymoon today after a joyous reunion at the airport here early today.

At 1:38 a. m. (CST) the handsome country pastor stepped off a plane from Kansas City which he had boarded in haste last night after his missing wife had telephoned him because she was afraid he would be "too worried to work on Sunday's sermon."

Anxiously the 41-year-old minister searched for his wife among terminal bystanders. Then he spied her, and racing ahead, swept her into his arms.

"Darling," cried the tiny, well-groomed Mrs. Lambert, who is 41. "Honey!" The pastor explained as he kissed her. Then as they embraced, he whispered, "You're as beautiful as ever."

The attractive Mrs. Lambert disappeared last Sunday evening. First news of disappearance came to her husband and his congregation at the same time—when a church member read, along with regular announcements at the evening services, a note which she had left behind.

The preacher and 250 members of the Bonner Springs, Kas. Church in The Country sat stunned while church member John Hubbel read hesitatingly:

"I have hindered the work here at Bonner Springs by my jealousy for the last two years. When you read this I will be several hundred miles from here."

She wrote that she was leaving "For the good of Paul, the children and the church."

RUTHLESS MURDER OF NEGRO COUPLES PROBED BY POLICE

Governor Arnall Offers $10,000 Reward For Solution To Georgia Lynching

GBI HEAD SAYS KILLINGS MUST HAVE BEEN PLANNED

MONROE, Ga., July 27.—(AP)—The head of the Georgia State Police told newsmen today "we just can't cope" with the local situation in the investigation of the massacre of four Negroes near here Thursday.

"The best people in town won't talk about this," the police head, Major William E. Spence said. "They have an idea who it is."

"When I get back to town (Atlanta) I'm going to ask the governor to appeal to every congressman to help pass federal legislation against mob violence."

Major Spence met newsmen shortly after the release of a man who he said fitted the description of the leader of the armed band which waylaid J. Loy Harrison, a prosperous farmer, and the Negroes on the banks of the Apalachicola river.

Spence said Harrison failed to identify the man and said the leader of the mob was "20 pounds heavier."

The state police leader said he had several other leads, but added that he was getting no cooperation from local authorities.

"We haven't had the racial issue up before until recently," Spence said. "We've been out on things like this in the past, but never anything like this."

In Atlanta, Governor Ellis Arnall announced he was offering rewards totaling more than $100,000 for a solution of the mob killing of two Negro farm hands and their wives.

The usually cheerful state executive grimly told newsmen at a special press conference that he was ordering the state police to remain in the county "until the guilty parties have been identified and turned over to law enforcement officers."

The governor said "the decent people of Georgia are humiliated about the mass murder of four Negroes in Walton county by an unknown mob of some 20 desperadoes."

"As governor of Georgia I am offering a reward to the full limit of death."

PARIS CONFERENCE TO OPEN MONDAY

Representatives Of 21 Nations Will Discuss European Peace Treaties

PARIS, July 27.—(AP)—Top diplomats and a sprinkling of military experts from 21 nations will meet in the sprawling Luxembourg palace at 3 p. m. (8 a. m. CST) Monday to open debate on peace treaties to shape the future of 83,000,000 inhabitants of five former enemy countries.

Convoked by the United States, Russia, Britain, and France, the Paris peace conference offers 17 invited nations the chance to make recommendations—their recommendations only—on pacts with Italy, Romania, Finland, Hungary and Bulgaria.

The treaties already have been drafted by the foreign ministers of the four major powers. Among other details, the pacts would limit the former Axis satellites to armies totaling 495,000 men for all five, and would exact total reparations of more than $1,000,000,000.

Comparison with the 1919 Versailles peace pact after World War One, the importance of the Paris conference is limited by two major factors:

1. Treaties already have been prepared, whereas 27 years ago 32 nations participated actively in writing the original pacts. Final treaties will not be concluded here, but by the United States, Russia, Britain and France after this conference.

2. The treaty with Germany—major European adversary of the Allies—has not been prepared and will not be discussed formally by the 1,500 delegates expected to attend. It will be written at a subsequent international conference.

Among the leading delegates are U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Soviet foreign minister, V. M. Molotov; Prime Minister Clement Attlee, substituting for the ailing British Foreign

Democratic Leader Denounces Yugoslav Regime For Murder Of Priests

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Demanding a firm policy toward Yugoslavia, House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts, asserted today that Marshal Tito "and his communist associates" have caused the death of 250 priests and seek the destruction "of holy men and women whose only crime is faith in God."

In an address prepared for the House, he asked: "Are we to watch in idleness while war, the reaper, in the guise of Tito sows his seed of death?"

McCormack said of Tito, "I know that he orders the imprisonment of nuns, for no crime, which in fact means death through cruelty."

"We, as a nation, must be firm, through our all powerful state department, in our dealings with national governments who would make a plaything of religion or a foil of Christianity," McCormack went on.

MERCY FOR YOUTH ASKED BY BLIND PAPER DEALER

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(AP)—Blind Newsdealer Edward Hoffman asked mercy today for a youth he trapped on charges of trying to pass Japanese currency at his stand.

Charged with setting up an international land, sea and air force to maintain peace in the world, the committee operates in such strict secrecy that after six months of sessions here virtually nothing is known of the progress, if any, made by the generals and admirals.

The chiefs of staff of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China have seats on the committee and all have top-ranking generals and admirals in their delegations.

The veil of mystery has kept even other groups of the United Nations in the dark. The security council, its parent body, still awaits reports from the committee.

Agrees To Make Statement After Describing Crimes To Grief-Stricken Parents

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP)—William Heirens, his attorney announced today, is ready to formally confess three of the most lurid crimes in Chicago's history—the mutilation slayings of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, a 35-year-old former Wave and a 43-year-old widow.

Asked his position if he is offered a confession in consideration of a life imprisonment recommendation, State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said, "I will consider it."

Malachy Coghlan, one of five defense counsel, said the slapping 17 year old University of Chicago student and wrestling enthusiast would place before Tuohy on Tuesday complete details of these three killings:

The kidnap-slaying and dismemberment last Jan. 7 of the golden-haired Degnan girl, youngest of two daughters of a Chicago OPA executive.

The shooting and fatal stabbing of Francis Brown, and ex-WAVE in Chicago's mysterious "lipstick murder" last Dec. 10—less than a month before the Degnan killing.

The fatal throat slashing on June 3, 1945 of Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow whose body, the head nearly severed, was found by her daughter.

"The defense feels the time has come for Heirens to make known by confession to the state's attorney the facts of the various crimes charged against him," said Coghlan.

The defense announcement—a move aimed at saving the youth from a possible penalty of death in the electric chair—came less than a day after Heirens had discussed the slayings with his parents' and attorney in the religious surroundings of the chapel of the county jail.

Previously the bush-haired Heirens, whose record of juvenile delinquency started when he was 13 years old, had denied all reports he had made any confession. Similar denials had been made by Tuohy and the youth's lawyers.

Asked specifically about the Ross slaying, a killing with which the youth has not been charged but reportedly had confessed orally, Coghlan said:

"There is no need to quibble about the number of homicides. There are

TIDELAND ACT IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Truman Silent On Possible Action; Veto Recommended By Advisors

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—The House today passed a Senate-approved bill giving states clear title to tideland areas often rich in oil deposits.

The roll call vote was 188 to 87.

The measure renounces federal claims, raised in recent years, to the submerged lands along the coasts and inland navigable waterways.

Speculation started immediately as to whether President Truman would sign or veto the legislation.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky declared last Monday, when the Senate passed the bill 44 to 34, that he hoped it would be rejected by Mr. Truman.

The president declined at his news conference last Thursday to state his position.

Secretary of the Interior Krug said on the radio last night that he

ACTIVITIES OF UN MILITARY STAFF VEILED IN SECRECY

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—The United Nations military staff committee, potentially one of the most powerful groups in world history, apparently is marking time with a sharp eye on global developments.

ARMY PROTECTION COMMANDERS WERE INSTRUCTED TO 'TAKE CARE OF' MUNITIONS MAGNATE'S SON

BATAVIA, Ill., July 27.—(AP)—Former army Captain Joseph H. (Bud) Garsson, whose father, Murray Garsson, is a principal in the Senate war profits investigation, says his commanders were under instructions to "take care of Garsson," but he resented the interference with his army career.

The 27 year old veteran told a news conference yesterday that it was through his own efforts he was sent overseas after an earlier application was "blocked." He said an executive officer had told him, "we've got a standing order that you are not to go overseas."

"Everywhere I went," Garsson said, "the word was out to 'take care of Garsson and protect him. There was also an undercurrent of resentment against me."

He added, however, that "anything done for me in the army through my father's influence was done because of a normal father's desire to protect his son and further his career."

Garsson said he believed the in-

U. S., BRITAIN TO CONFER ON PALESTINE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes set out today for the peace conference opening Monday in Paris, leaving behind for later broadcast a statement that "the hope of avoiding some new and terrible war depended on quick removal of frictions left over from the recent conflict."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) drew the assignment to read Byrnes' statement over the NBC network six hours after the secretary left by plane with assurances from President Truman that he has the support of the entire country "in his efforts to get a just peace for the world."

Byrnes left Washington airport in the president's own plane at 12:30 a. m. on hand to see him off in addition to Mr. Truman were the other members of the cabinet, congressional leaders and Chief Justice Vinson. A crowd estimated at 3,000 witnessed the departure ceremonies which Connally opened by hailing Byrnes as a "great ambassador of peace."

Byrnes told the airport crowd he hoped that peace talks for formal German reparations for war damages would be completed and signed at the end of the 21-nation conference.

Before leaving Byrnes authorized Connally to read his 700-word statement on NBC's "University of the Air" series on American foreign policy.

In this statement Byrnes called for the "earliest withdrawal of Allied occupying troops" consistent with world security, settlement of "explosive" boundary disputes, final decisions on reparations—over which the United States is currently engaged in argument with Russia—and maximum progress in providing people everywhere with "more food and houses and clothing."

"Not until these things are accomplished will the people themselves begin to remember how precious peace really is and to make felt their universal determination not to commit atomic suicide," the secretary said.

"It seems to me that the hope of avoiding some new and terrible war greatly depends upon how quickly we can remove the dangerous sources of

INFLUENCE SALES TO BE INSPECTED

Mead Group Given Further Evidence Of Bribery In Munitions Deals

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Senate war profits investigators turned their attention today on a reported sale of Washington influence on war contracts to a firm that did not get the help it paid for.

Another focus of Mead committee interest was a story that superior officers had instructions to shield the son of a munitions manufacturer from harm during his war service.

Members disclosed that these reports had been turned over to the staff of the war investigating committee with instructions to determine the truth or falsity of both reports.

At the same time Chairman Mead, Democrat, New York, announced that Lindsay C. Warren, the comptroller general, has been summoned to a public hearing Monday to explore the possibilities of check on improper war profits through facilities of the general accounting office.

Senator Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, disclosed that a Detroit concern had been mentioned in the reported transaction with a Washington purveyor of "influence."

"If there's anybody in my state that was in on these deals," he said in an interview, "I want it exposed just as sure as anybody else, and it doesn't make any difference what his politics were or are."

From another member of the committee, who declined to be quoted by name, it was learned that the committee had received a report that an individual had offered to obtain a war contract for a fee and had then reneged on his part of the transaction after getting the money.

This member said that the con-

Prison Escapee Surrenders After Defying Police To Remove Him From Cell

RUTLEDGE, Tenn., July 26.—(AP)—Ending a 24-hour defiance of officers and threat to shoot himself if they tried to disarm him, a 31-year-old Indiana prison escapee today handed over his gun to a deputy sheriff and collapsed in Grainger county jail.

Louis Lockhart, who Chief Deputy Sheriff J. N. Antrean said escaped from the Michigan City, Ind., prison May 13, was arrested 10 days ago and was being held for Indiana officials. When they arrived yesterday, the prisoner displayed his gun and threatened to shoot himself if they attempted to remove him, Antrean related.

Threats by officers to use tear gas failed to move him and the approximately 25 reporters, photographers, patrolmen and deputies who crowded the corridor before his cell continued verbal arguments to persuade him to relinquish the weapon, a .32 caliber automatic.

The jail was cleared with the exception of one or two witnesses when Lockhart asked for "five minutes to think it over."

He asked to write a note to his 23-year-old wife, and after writing for a few seconds handed his gun to Deputy Sheriff H. M. Clifton, burst

Our Bayou Water Is Pure

The unusually large number of paratyphoid cases in this community and surrounding parishes this summer is not due to any contamination of water supply, the state and city health departments announced yesterday as they continued their search for the source of the malady.

While Monroe's drinking water, obtained from Bayou DeSiard, is not as completely palatable as might be desired, it at least is pure in every respect when it reaches the consumer, and the two health agencies are constantly on the alert to keep it so. West Monroe and practically every other community in the 14 northeast parishes served by the state board's laboratory here get their water from deep-driven wells. The city waterworks department now is awaiting a final report from the U. S. Geological Survey on test wells drilled in the hope that Monroe too could have nature-purified water.

At the point where Monroe's present supply is pumped from the bayou the stream is constantly treated with copper sulphate. That is to eliminate algae, a tiny organism that, while entirely harmless, gives water a greenish tint and a slightly brackish taste. Algae appears quickly in any stagnant water and it is the reason for the regular cleaning of the city bathing pool.

As it enters pipes on its way to the purification plant, the water receives its first treatment of chlorine and it is given another final dose of that chemical after it has passed through the filtration process and enters the mains for distribution. Daily tests of samples, taken from hydrants in all sections of town, are made by City Chemist Curvis Coates and also by Miss Florence Drach, bacteriologist in charge of the state laboratory at the parish health center in the old post office building.

Miss Drach also analyzes water samples sent by the health departments of 13 surrounding parishes. West Monroe's supply is given a weekly test, while the other parishes' check-ups are on a monthly basis except, of course, in cases of epidemic. Particularly during the summer when typhoid fever is most likely to appear, careful watch is kept for organisms of the coli-aerogenes group, to which the typhoid germ belongs. None has been detected this year.

Miss Drach has been head of the Monroe district laboratory for 17 years. A native of Benton Harbor, Mich., she joined the state health department at New Orleans in 1928 after periods as instructor in biology at the Alabama and Virginia State Colleges. Her first Northeast Louisiana assignment was to establish the state laboratory at Tallulah, which was discontinued after the district unit was placed in operation here.

PERFECTION IN PUBLIC SERVICE

One of the most able and best liked public officials ever to serve the citizens of Monroe will observe an anniversary next Thursday.

Thirty-one years ago that day, August 1, 1915, a young fellow named P. A. Poag was employed by Mayor H. D. Apgar and the then nine-member city council to take over the duties of the aging and ill David W. Faulk, who had long served as city secretary-treasurer. And there that same P. A. Poag has remained, retaining the post by sheer merit through changes of administration, and it appears to be the earnest hope of the public he contacts daily that he will stay right there forever.

Always affable, with a cheerful word for everyone, easy to reach and never too busy with all his manifold duties but that he can find time to give attention to the wants of each caller, Mr. Poag knows and does his job thoroughly. His position is an appointive one but if it were to be left to the electorate there seems no doubt he would poll a full 100 per cent of the votes.

Born in Rockhill, York county, South Carolina, October 25, 1886, Mr. Poag was 22 years of age when he came to Monroe in January, 1908, as bookkeeper and city salesman for the Cudahy Packing Company. He cast his first vote that next November—for William Jennings Bryan for president. In 1910 he became an accountant in the Monroe office of the superintendent of the Missouri Pacific railroad and three years later he went to the master mechanic's office of the old Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific in the same capacity. It was from that position he was called to the city post.

Following the death of Mr. Faulk, Mr. Poag was appointed secretary-treasurer by Mayor Apgar and the council on April 25, 1917. He was immediately reappointed when Arnold Bernstein was elected mayor under the present commission form of municipal government, and on May 13, 1919, the offices of secretary-treasurer and tax collector were merged. Mr. Poag was reappointed regularly by Mayor Bernstein, who died December 21, 1937, in the third year of his fifth term. Harvey H. Benoit, who became mayor by appointment by the governor and has twice been elected to the office, has continued the Poag reappointments to the complete satisfaction of everyone.

Mr. Poag was married to Mrs. Maude W. Smith of Monroe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Welch, October 18, 1911. (He confirmed the date by the inscription on the inside of his wedding ring.) A stepson, Allen L. Smith of Baton Rouge, is manager of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents and recently stage-managed that organization's highly successful state convention in Monroe. A daughter, Margaret, is Mrs. John Charles Jacobs, a June bride this year, and a son, P. A. Poag Jr., is agent for Delta Airlines here. The Poag home, built in 1928, is at 311 Speed street.

The expression tying the knot, in reference to a wedding ceremony, is derived from the fact that priests used to tie the ends of their stoles around the joined hands of bride and groom.

The Hollywoodite who fails to read the "want ads" in the local trade papers misses both entertainment and education. What could be more typical of the Hollywood "slant" than an ad in a recent trade paper offering a "Glamorous Tame Ocelot" for sale? Or what could be more instructive than the ad in the same publication which read: "Nylon! One dozen pairs, sheer, quality, your size, for information leading to the rental of a furnished apartment or flat in Hollywood." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

OUR CHILDREN

PROPER CAMPS
A proper camp takes expert care of its children. Their food is selected and cooked with serious care. Their hours of play, rest and work are well planned. When a parent sends food to a child the careful and worrisome work of the camp director and his assistants is rendered useless. The very thing that the children went to camp to get—expert care—has been taken from them, and time, effort and money on both sides is wasted. Worse, the child camper has been taught by his parent that what the camp director and the counselors say is not important. That is too bad.

The standards of the camp and those of the parents should be alike. The good camp is interested in the mental, spiritual and physical development of the children under the director's care. He is far more concerned about the campers' attitudes and their mental character and quality than he is about the child's weight and height. Many parents seem to think that the chief gain a child should make is in his weight. If he gained five pounds or more—fine. If he lost a couple of pounds, what a poor camp that was.

When a young camper learns to share what he has, does and thinks with his fellow campers—when he learns that what concerns his fellow campers is his concern, too—and when he gives his strength, talents and work for the enjoyment or the comfort of his fellow campers—he is gaining something far more precious and important to him and to his world than poundage. You cannot weight men's souls but their souls weigh the fate of the nation. It is time to consider the quality of the souls children's camps inspire.

Competitive sports is not the best way of using the young campers' time. They get plenty of ball playing, tennis and swimming in their daily schedule, so there is no necessity for the competition that is stressed in some camps. It is best to keep the sports within the camp circle. When one camp is pitted against another, or when it enters a series of games to win a camp trophy, there enters into the game something less than good sportsmanship—the evil of competition for a prize. The camp games offer enough of the competition, and a ribbon or a medal won in camp games is enough of that sort of thing. It is difficult, even in that limited field, to keep the spirit of good sportsmanship alive between the competitors, but when it is camp against camp the competitive spirit mounts too high. Good camps do not believe that trophies are symbols of fine camp achievement. It is not possible to measure or to justify reward the development of fine spiritual qualities but that is what the good camps is out to achieve.

As they grow up children at different ages like different books. Angelo Patri has made a list of over 50 books which he recommends for children of 5 ages, in leaflet P-8, "A Book List."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Exodus 20:8; Mark 2:27-28; Matthew 12:13

By William H. Gilroy, D. D.
One great heritage for which we can thank the Jewish religion is the institution of a day of rest in every seven. In Christian observance it has become the first day of the week instead of the last; but the principle of Christian Sunday is the same as that of Jewish Sabbath.

It is a good principle, too, even though today this heritage which we ought to prize is too lightly regarded. The Jewish conception, the Sabbath had two aspects. It was a holy day, dedicated to the worship of the Lord, and it was a day of rest from toil.

Christian practice has maintained this dual aspect. But in the widespread secularism of life today, Sunday has lost much of its significance both respects—it is neither a holy day nor in any very real sense a day of rest.

For vast numbers of people, Sunday is frankly a day of pleasure, on which pleasure-seekers frequently work harder than at their accustomed toil.

I believe that, from a social as well as from a religious standpoint, much of this holiday today is unwelcome and greatly to the detriment of the many who think they have found a better way than that of their Sabbath-observing parents or grandparents.

The modern observance of Sunday as a day of pleasure means that, in addition to the great number of people who must work on Sunday in furnishing the services necessary to our complex society, many must toil in the unnecessary business of supplying pleasure for others.

But beneath all this is, I think, the fact that many who have made Sunday for themselves neither a day of rest nor a day of worship fail to realize how much they are missing. I grew up in a home where very strict observance was the rule. The

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
UNDESIRED GOLD—The first English gold coin counterfeited was the "Golden Penny" issued by King Henry III in 1257. But a strange thing happened. The people, unaccustomed to gold, refused to accept it. The king tried to force circulation by threatening death to those who refused it. In the end the coin had to be withdrawn. It took more than a century longer before people became reconciled to gold. IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
WASHINGTON, D. C.—The navy is having a fine time for itself running the coal mines, says Admiral Ben Moreell, the coal mines administrator, has over 200 naval officers working for him while the government is theoretically operating the seized soft-coal industry.

These officers are nearly all eligible for discharge on points. But they're sticking to the ship—that is, the mines—still they bring 'em back safe to port—that is, turn 'em back to private ownership.

There may be a tendency to call a portal a hatch, or to refer to a pit as the hold. But, by and large, the sea-going topside mine supervisory employes can now tell a pick from an anchor, and the coal is coming out of the bunkers—that is, the mines—for full speed ahead—that is, efficient production.

Sometime this fall, Rear Admiral Joel T. Boone of the navy's medical corps hopes to have ready for Admiral Moreell his report on the coal mines' hospital, medical, sanitation, and housing conditions. Dr. Boone has been in business inspecting these mines since the coal of May, when John L. Lewis signed a new contract with Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug.

Article Five of that agreement provided for the health survey. It was to be a preliminary to establishment of the welfare and retirement fund raised by a 5-cent-a-ton royalty tax on the operators, and to the medical and hospital fund raised by deductions from the miners' wages.

When Dr. Boone makes his report, however, it will not be a specific set of recommendations that a hospital should be built here, a new sewer system there, or an entire new housing project, or the yards. Instead, the report will merely recommend a set of minimum standards for health, sanitation and housing in all mine communities.

Currently, Dr. Boone and his staff are making a swing through Oklahoma, Arkansas and Alabama districts, hitting only the high and low spots. This trip will complete visits by Dr. Boone's group to each of the country's coal-mining regions. In each region a team of three naval officers has been set up—a medical corps officer in charge of each, working with an engineer and a recreation and welfare officer.

It being impossible for any one group of men to visit all the coal mines in the country, those five regional teams will do most of the actual inspecting. Their data will be submitted to Washington, and the final report will be prepared here.

Not even the regional teams will try to visit all the 8,000 to 9,000 mines in the country. Only 2,600 of the mines are now under government operation. If the regional teams inspect ten per cent of this number, they will be doing well. The navy is allowing local mine operators and union officials to select the mines to be inspected.

So far, the inspections have shown that there is no standard of health or housing in any coal mine district. On one side of the ridge there may be a mine operating under nearly perfect conditions. Across the valley may be a mine which everything is wrong. The difference may be due largely to local community leadership. Squalor marks the mine community where both company and union leaders are lazy.

The automobile and good roads have worked a revolution on coal mine conditions. Dr. Boone has found, formerly, all miners had to live on slag heaps in order to be near their mines. Now they can, and do, live 30 and 40 miles from the coal mine portal, in clean and airy surroundings, the men driving to work.

The variation in state mining laws is another factor that makes preparation of any minimum standard code difficult. Illinois requires wash-

New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
This Rag O. & Patent Office

NEW YORK—The fire-swept facade of St. George, Staten Island, was the sorriest sight, next to the Normandie, on my recent tour of the New York waterfront. The piers, sheds, waiting rooms, ships, train sheds and other structures, of frame construction, chiefly, lie black and forbidding, a twisted, charred mass of stuff. This is hard to recognize as the terminal that used to swarm with so many thousands of commuters night and morning.

The ferries are using a slip far to the left, as you face the island from the water. This is an inadequate accommodation, but the only other ferry house standing was damaged within by the fire, and is not usable.

A bad fire last winter burned out one of the smaller terminals, and reconstruction has not been started on it.

One naturally hopes that the city will build far better and more handsome structures than those destroyed, and that they will be fireproof. The principal approach to Staten Island, which is the borough of Richmond, and all within New York City always has been an eyesore. The ferry terminal was built many years ago, was generations out of date, and was a first-rate fire hazard.

Mayor John F. Hylan, known to scoffers as Red Mike, because he had reddish hair, was a staunch believer in the future of Staten Island as an important integral part of the future city. Bruce Macnamie, who went along on this survey to help identify ships, representing the National Federation of American Shippers, pointed out the great advantages enjoyed by the navy during the Second War to End Wars, because of the Hylan piers, a magnificent frontage for the greatest port in the world.

At the time of the building of these thousand-foot piers by Hylan, the town was pleased to laugh loudly. Along with the gigantic Bronx Terminal Market, they were commonly designated Hylan's Folly, and liberal poison was cooked up out of what was said to be a crazy and expensive dream.

Hylan didn't know how to get along with the press, and this, admittedly, starts any politician off with two strikes against him. Though he was a graduate of the New York Law school, and had considerably more formal education than our present President of the United States has been privileged to acquire, he was represented to the customers as a blundering ignoramus. A silly story went the rounds, without the slightest basis of truth, that either Hylan or his wife (it was told both ways) expressed to a visiting queen their approval of one of her remarks by saying, "Queen, you said a mouthful!" This canard did more than anything else to retire Hylan to private life after two terms as mayor.

Well, there stands the Hylan's Folly piers, after more than 20 years of valuable service. It has been necessary to build many more piers alongside them to take care of our traffic in war and peace.

Same thing applies to the Bronx Terminal Market, which stood empty during the administration of Jimmy Walker. It has been enlarged to almost double its original capacity, and is now a place of much commerce.

Hylan planned a tunnel from the Battery to St. George, made some borings as tests, but left office before he could get money for starting the project. Staten Island never will be the important part of a city that it should be until that tunnel is built. (Released by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

KNIFE, FORK CLUB TO HAVE FESTIVAL

The Knife and Fork Club—Monroe Diner Number 1—will hold its summer festival for members and their families at the Sterlington Legion hall on the Sterlington-Bastrop road Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Knife and Fork Club is composed of active members of the York Rite Masonic organizations of Monroe and has been instrumental in maintaining Masonic activity in this vicinity. It has been customary to hold an elaborate fall festival each November for members and associates; this is the first time a summer festival has been planned.

Barney L. Mulhern, president, has appointed O. J. Smith, chief crum-catcher, and Roy Craig, as a refreshment and arrangement committee for Sunday's meeting. All K. & F. members and their families are expected to attend.

SUTTLE AGAIN FOOD MANAGER AT FRANCES

Return of Carl C. Suttle to Hotel Frances as food manager was announced Saturday by Manager Ernest C. Gibson.

Mr. Suttle, who held the same position for some time prior to 1936, comes back to Monroe from Hotel Grim, at Texarkana, where he went two years ago after four years with Washington-Yorkee Hotel at Shreveport. He resigned here to go with the National Hotel Company, with which he served in various assignments, and later operated an independent catering business for two years at Marlin, Tex.

In returning to the Frances, Mr. Suttle succeeds Mrs. Carolyn Moxley, of Petersburg, Va., who had filled the position for two and a half years. Mr. and Mrs. Suttle took up residence at the hotel early last week. They are natives of Lake Charles.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land. II Chronicles 7:14.

It is no humility for a man to think less of himself than he ought, though it might rather puzzle him to do that. —Spurgeon.

FREIGHT SCHEDULE PLANNED BY DELTA

Inauguration Of New Service
Here Heralds Important
Chapter In Aviation

One of the biggest chapters of post-war aviation will begin August 15 when Delta Air Lines inaugurates the first scheduled air freight flights through Monroe, Mrs. Frances Lolley, Delta's senior traffic agent in Monroe, announced here yesterday.

Delta filed air freight tariffs with the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington yesterday, and according to Paul W. Fite, Delta's cargo and mail traffic manager, "air freight will open an entirely new field of fast transportation for Monroe shippers."

Costs of shipments moving out of Monroe by air freight will be approximately 60 per cent cheaper than existing air express costs, and will make possible the shipment of such articles as heavy farm or industrial machinery at a fraction of the charges now in effect, Fite said. However, air freight will not abolish air express.

Plant-to-plant service will be available regardless of whether the shipper is in Monroe or in a nearby community. A local trucking company is cooperating with Delta on delivery and pick-up.

Delta will provide direct one-carrier air freight transportation on scheduled flights to all points on its system, and connections will be provided with other airlines to points anywhere in the United States and in many foreign countries.

"Special all freight ships will be operated through Monroe whenever a shipment or combination of shipments is too heavy or too large for the cargo bins of our passenger liners," Fite declared.

"Streamlined tariffs have been designed which anyone can understand after five minutes instructions. Special 'air bills' will replace old-fashioned bills of lading and way bills," he concluded.

OPPOSITION AIDS UNION'S CAMPAIGN

CIO Organizer Declares Official Hostility Actually Increasing Membership

NEW ORLEANS, July 27.—(AP)—The C. I. O.'s southern organizing drive is progressing best where laws and public officials are least sympathetic to unions, says Van A. Bittner, national director of the C. I. O. organizing committee.

"Generally speaking, we've had more success in Mississippi than anywhere else since the start of our drive on June 15," said Bittner, who is here to confer with C. I. O. directors of Louisiana and Mississippi and their staffs. His remarks were made in an interview.

"That's because conditions are worse there than anywhere else. The people realize they're going to gain nothing through their government, so they have to join unions to win decent wages and conditions."

"The same is true in Georgia. Our membership has stepped up tremendously since Gene Talmadge was nominated governor."

"The people realize they must have union organization before they'll have good labor laws."

Bittner expressed the opinion that organizing in Louisiana would not be hampered by acts of the recent legislature pertaining to union rights.

"You can't stop people from doing what they want to do merely by passing laws," he declared.

"Our southern drive has been called an 'invasion,' the union leader continued. 'Actually, 85 per cent of the field men in the drive are native southerners. And 75 per cent are war veterans.'"

Bittner said the C. I. O. expected to win all of 88 pending NLRB elections in 12 southern states. He explained that the elections had been ordered by the NLRB on petitions by the C. I. O., and the petitions were filed only after majorities of dues-paying members were obtained.

Since the organizing drive started, he related, the C. I. O. had won 36 out of 42 southern elections, and in the six which were lost, petitions had been filed before the campaign began.

The C. I. O. has won all six of the elections held in Mississippi since the opening of the drive, he continued. Among the six was the Masonite corporation plant at Laurel, which he said was the biggest industry in Mississippi and the largest yet organized in the south during the current drive.

PACT WITH ITALY SHOWS PROBLEMS

Draft Of Document Indicates Possible Areas Of Friction Among Big Four

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—The Times said today in a Paris dispatch that the treaty with Italy, which may be the first topic on the agenda of the peace conference opening Monday in Paris, "shows the big four foreign ministers in agreement on many major points but frankly in disagreement or undecided on others, regarding which the advice of the peace conference is asked."

The text of the document, the paper continues, "is decidedly a draft rather than a treaty. It is what the foreign ministers have finally decided to refer to the peace conference for its advice, which they are bound to consider but not specifically bound to follow."

Agreement was reached by the big four "in general on Italy's frontiers, but alternate proposals are included, notably by the United States, for the frontiers between Italy and Yugoslavia."

The territory of Trieste that is to be created, the Times said, adding: "They agree on the reparations to be paid by Italy to the Soviet Union, but not on what reparations, if any, are to be paid to France, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Ethiopia."

"They agreed on an international regime, but they had not yet agreed on a statute for the government of the Trieste territory and its internationalized port."

"They have agreed to postpone for a year any decision regarding the fate of the Italian colonies in North and East Africa, but the declaration that they are to make regarding the manner of settling this question remains significantly blank in the draft treaty."

Regarding the Italian colonies, the Times said the draft "provides that Italy renounces all title to them. But she does not transfer this title to any other power or authority as Germany did after World War I in surrendering her colonies to the Allied powers."

"Title is simply left in suspense while those who conquered the Italian colonies and now occupy them, the British, retain them for at least a year. At the end of this period something will be done about the future of these colonies but the draft does not say what. It merely says the big four will 'jointly determine' this in a manner to be prescribed in a declaration yet to be made."

On the question of reparations the Times said the "Soviet Union sets its $100,000,000, but must stretch it over seven years and forego any drain on current production during two years. Moreover, it must supply raw materials to Italy with which to make goods payable as reparations."

The draft, the Times said, calls for the United Nations to act in disputes in Trieste by guaranteeing its international status and even by sharing in its government, thus conferring new authority on the U. N. "By giving it territorial responsibility in what may become one of the sore spots of the new Europe now being formed—inasmuch as both the Italians and the Yugoslavs bitterly oppose this settlement of the Trieste question."

"Some leaders of smaller countries expect the big four to stick together on the points they have settled among themselves and to resist efforts of the peace conference to alter such decisions, but that on minor issues or on issues that remain contentious the big four may split as they did when their foreign ministers met."

"Anyhow, the peace conference will add its own recommendations to those included in this draft and it will be the function of the big four—in the case of Italy and of the big three in the cases of the Danubian countries—to act as final judges and treaty-makers."

Winfield Scott, said he never had received any instructions to "take care" of Garsson.

"During the time he served with me," Gen. Frederick said, "I was never aware that any influence surrounded him in any way."

Garsson, who now is in charge of railroad sales at the Batavia plant, said he spent more than 300 days in combat, and was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in France.

FAMOUS AUTHOR DIES IN PARIS

Gertrude Stein, Beloved By Countless GI's Succumbs
After Illness

PARIS, July 27.—(AP)—Gertrude Stein, 72, the beloved but puzzling American writer who opened her heart and her home to hundreds of American soldiers during World War II, died tonight in a Paris hospital at Neuilly, a American suburb.

There had been no earlier reports that Miss Stein was ill and hospital officials declined to state the nature of her illness or how long she had been confined to the hospital.

A native of Allegheny, Pa., Miss Stein began writing while a student at Radcliffe College and published more than 20 books and other works—most of them so abstruse as to verbage and sentence structure as to leave even professional critics in a quandary.

Such typical phrases as "a rose is a rose" and "pigeon on the grass alas" gained Miss Stein a worldwide—if headshaking—literary reputation.

Although Miss Stein lived in France for more than 40 years, she loved her native America and welcomed American tourists to her home as warmly as the hundreds of famous figures of the arts whom she knew as friends. She never married.

Miss Stein remained in France during World War I. In World War II, by the time she decided to return to the United States, all travel lanes had closed to civilians. She then moved her home from the Paris Latin quarter to Billignin in the foothills of the French Alps where she remained until the American Seventh army liberated the area.

She earned the undying friendship of the G. I.'s she invited into her home. Despite her famous close-cropped hair and peculiar literary style, Miss Stein was a simple, direct person who came as a fresh breath of America to the troops who sought her out.

Miss Stein's death came only a few days after the publication in the United States of her latest book, "Brewsie and Willie."

A popular figure with American soldiers, scores of whom visited and talked with her in Paris when she returned to the capital after the Allies drove the Germans out, Miss Stein used many of them as characters in "Brewsie and Willie," a book devoted chiefly to the thoughts and talk of G. I.'s in France.

Literary writers said recently that Miss Stein had planned to return to the United States this fall.

DEATH FOR NAZI LEADERS SOUGHT

British Prosecutor Denounces
Hitler Aides For Wartime Barbarity

NUERNBERG, July 27.—(AP)—British Prosecutor Sir Hartley W. Shawcross demanded today the death penalty for 22 top Nazis as retribution for turning the world into a cauldron of death, persecution and horror.

Winding up his eight-hour speech, which began at yesterday's session of the international military tribunal, Sir Hartley named each defendant, from Herman Goering to the absent Martin Bormann, and then declared: "These are guilty men."

The once swaggering, confident key men in Hitler's quest for world domination wined under the British prosecutor's biting words—Joachim von Ribbentrop seemed to growl to himself, Hans Frank jerked forward in the dock, Hjalmar Schacht wore a puzzled frown, Adm. Karl Doenitz sat impassive, Goering was listless.

Sir Hartley was the second of the four Allied prosecutors to state his case, following the U. S. summary laid out by Justice Robert H. Jackson, who had charged that Goering and his 21 co-defendants were as guilty as

Hitler because they "put a loaded gun in his eager hands."

In demanding the death penalty, Sir Hartley declared: "On their fate great issues must still depend. This trial must form a milestone in the history of civilization, not only bringing retribution to these guilty men, . . . but also that the ordinary people of the world—and I make no distinction now between friend and foe—are now determined that the individual must transcend the state."

AMSTERDAM, July 27.—(AP)—Communists emerged as the strongest party here today after chalking up 126,498 votes of the 395,000 total cast in yesterday's elections in the Dutch capital. The labor ticket placed second with 122,429 votes. Each party obtained 15 seats of a total of 45 in the municipal council.

Of the remaining council seats, the Catholics won eight, the Protestants five and the Conservative party of Freedom two.

In Rotterdam labor led the field with 37 percent of the vote cast, while the Communists polled 19.3 percent.

In The Hague, residence of the Catholic-Labor coalition cabinet, labor obtained 30.7 percent, and the Catholics placed second with 23 percent. The Communists polled 15 percent of the vote.

religious terrorism and openly condemn your present leaders. We care not whether your hope of national greatness through religious persecution was born in Moscow or conceived in Belgrade. Such prejudice prevents world peace and must cease."

"The communist on foreign soil who publicly denies the existence of God would, by force of martial power, not by reason, destroy every religion. The present religious terrorism in Yugoslavia calls for dynamic defense by dynamic leadership throughout the decent world, both church and state."

The House leader said, "The people of the United States cannot slumber while such conditions exist in any nation. America can and must, by firm governmental policies executed by our state department, aid the persecuted Yugoslavs, prevent terrorism within her boundaries, refuse to deal with tyranny."

fluence came "through generals in the chemical warfare branch." He added that he believed his father had not asked Rep. Andrew May (D-Ky.) to use his influence, except when he faced a court martial in France for disobedience of a command. A military court martial convicted him but recommended leniency. Later his sentence was suspended.

Young Garsson related that before going overseas he was at an officers training school and had asked his father not to interfere. He said he served with a Col. Robert T. Fredericks, who later became a general on the Anzio campaign.

He declared that "even Gen. Fredericks, who was one of the finest officers I ever met, had word to protect me. He caught me on patrol and said that was not my job—I was with the first special service force. Then he was wounded and the resentment against me and the 'take care of Garsson' thing grew again. I asked for a transfer."

HOMeward JOURNEY STARTED BY WEARIED 79TH CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 27. — (AP) — The 79th Congress slapped "unfinished" labels on many of President Truman's favorite legislative proposals today and started heading homeward.

The House today picked next Friday as the date for formal and final adjournment but there was little expectation of anything more than formalities after the week-end. Earlier there had been talk of quitting as early as Wednesday. The Senate has yet to act on the resolution.

Leaders foresaw possible difficulty in mustering a quorum after today. Without the required number of members present, any man on the floor could block consideration of a measure.

The House resolution, by Majority Leader McCormack (Mass.), was adopted by a standing vote of 168 to 3, with Reps. Randolph (D-W. Va.), Koppelman (D-Conn.) and Cresser (D-Ohio) observed standing in opposition.

There had been some talk of quitting on a recess basis, so that the House leaders could call the members back.

Many members already have left, and others arranged for departure over the week-end, on the longest vacation Congress has had since 1938 when the 75th Congress quit on June 16.

Behind them lies a record of cooperation with two presidents, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, on the weighty problems of war—and of fierce bickering with both on major domestic issues.

Before them lie the November congressional elections which Republicans insist will give them control of the House of Representatives for the first time since Herbert Hoover was president. The Democrats express an opposite view.

Probably no Congress saw or helped make more history than the 79th. During its tenure the nation's only four-term president died, the shooting phase of the world's worst war came to an end, and the nation started on the long and thorny road back to a peacetime basis.

Certainly few Congresses ever have treated so cordially the legislative requests of a chief executive. President Truman got from Congress just about half the things he requested in more than a dozen messages to the lawmakers.

He had trouble even with his official appointments, the Senate refusing to confirm his nomination of Edwin Pauley, California oil man, to be undersecretary of the navy. The appointment stirred up a row that brought about the resignation of interior.

The president's major fights were on labor legislation and price controls, on both of which he sent to Congress vetoes that were sustained.

He got nowhere at all on his proposals for universal military training and for merger of the armed forces. But he fared much better, after a prolonged fight, on his requests for extension of the draft law and for a loan of $3,750,000,000 to Great Britain.

CROSSETT ROAD WILL BE PAVED

Arkansas Highway Lets Contract For Road From State Line

The Arkansas highway commission awarded a contract for the hard surfacing of eight miles of gravel road from Crossett, Ark., south to the Louisiana line this past week, according to Guy Campbell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee. This work will be completed within 120 days and will be the first step in closing the gap of gravel road between Bastrop and Crossett, Campbell stated.

"For the past ten years our Chamber of Commerce has been trying to get the states of Arkansas and Louisiana together in an agreement to join in hard surfacing of the routes north of Bastrop between Bastrop and Crossett or between Bastrop and Hamburg. Last November our highway committee held a conference with Arkansas officials in Crossett which was attended by D. Y. Smith, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission, and Jerry Sandler, chairman of the Arkansas highway commission, in which it was agreed to hard-surface the route from Crossett south to Bastrop. Arkansas has already delivered the goods and has fulfilled its promise by awarding a contract to hard surface her part of this important road," Campbell stated.

"It is now up to Louisiana to make good on our promise and hard surface the approximately nine miles of gravel between Bastrop and the Arkansas line," Campbell declared.

In 1944 there were 900 cars crossing the Arkansas-Louisiana boundary at Junction City on U. S. highway 167 between Little Rock and Alexandria, whereas there were only 50 cars per day crossing the state boundary line north of Bastrop, due to the fact that in traveling between Little Rock and Alexandria down through Pine Bluff, Star City, Monticello, Bastrop, Monroe and thence down U. S. 165 to Alexandria, the road is very poor as compared with U. S. 167. Thus, there is practically no north-south traffic through Monroe and all of this traffic is now going through Ruston and El Dorado between Alexandria and Little Rock. The closing of the gap of gravel between Bastrop and Crossett is regarded an important step towards providing an all-weather hard-surfaced route between Little Rock and Alexandria via Bastrop and Monroe.

Considerable progress is being made on improving U. S. 165 between Monroe and Alexandria. This road is completed from Monroe to a point four miles below Kelly and 16 miles between Standard and Urania has had all earth work and drainage structure completed and a contract will be let for the paving of these 16 miles in the very near future, according to information supplied the Chamber of Commerce by E. J. James, district engineer of Alexandria. Five miles of U. S. 165 between Georgetown and Pollock is now under construction with modern concrete.

Chairman Campbell of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee expresses the belief that, with a vigorous program of highway promotion, by the end of 1947 we can look forward to having completed a first class hard surfaced, all-weather route between Little Rock and Alexandria through Pine Bluff and Monroe, which will actually be a shorter distance by some three miles between Alexandria and Little Rock as compared with road 167 between those two cities. The completion of this north-south highway through Monroe will bring perhaps an additional 1,000 automobiles through Monroe each day with some 4,000 people, and will result in a tremendous amount of new business for service stations, restaurants, hotels and in fact all retailers.

A request will be made of leaders of the Chamber of Commerce of Bastrop to exert every possible effort in securing the hard surfacing of the gravel road north of Bastrop to the Arkansas line at the earliest possible date, Chairman Campbell stated.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP ON GULF

Tom Wafer Announces Trip For 10 Days At Biloxi, Miss.

Forty-five boys, members of Scout Troops No. 67, of Sterling, and No. 28, of Monroe, will leave Monday in a specially chartered bus bound for Biloxi, Miss., where they will be in camp for ten days in Camp Wilkes on the gulf coast. Tom Wafer, of Sterling, Boy Scoutmaster, announces that Flynn Oliver will be life guard and in charge of aquatic sports, capable cooks will make the trip and will see that three wholesome meals are served daily.

The trip will be both recreational and educational. There will be sight-seeing along the coast; old Fort Massachusetts on Ship Island will be visited; also Horn Island and Chandler Islands.

There will be boating, swimming and deep-sea fishing in addition to sight-seeing.

The cost of the trip will be defrayed by a special fund raised by the two troops, Mr. Wafer said.

There have in past years been similar Boy Scout trips made, but they were halted by the World War. In

DOKEYS TO PLAN FOR CEREMONIAL

El Miro Temple No. 187, Knights of Kharassan, will hold the next meeting on the first Monday night in August. All Dokeys are urged to attend and to bring as many applications for membership as possible.

Plans are in the making for a big ceremonial about November. This next meeting will be the last one before the big Labor Day ceremonial in Vicksburg, which will be a district meeting of all Knights. Fully 5,000 Dokeys are expected from five states.

The rank of knight was conferred on candidates at the Stonewall lodge, K. of P. meeting last Thursday. Another big meeting is planned for Thursday, August 2.

PLAN JOINT PYTHIAN PARTY
A bingo party is scheduled at the K. of P. hall Friday, August 2, sponsored by the two Pythian Sister lodges here. The proceeds will be used to further the Pythian cause by organizing Temples throughout the state and working toward a Grand Temple in Monroe in the near future.

THEY WALK WITH DEATH WHEN THEY WALK ON

PESTROY DDT LIQUID COATING

Here's how PESTROY kills and keeps on killing insects! After application, PESTROY DDT particles rise to top of coating, form a crystalline film. This DDT film kills insects that touch it . . . keeps on killing day after day, week after week. You see, PESTROY is compounded with a new type of synthetic resin. This special resin binds PESTROY DDT to any surface, makes it cling, keeps it from brushing off or blowing away.

WHY PESTROY IS SO AMAZING:

1. It's a crystallized coating—it's on the job with full effectiveness 24 hours a day.
2. It's a perfectly balanced DDT formula—an exclusive, scientific blend of DDT and other chemical agents.
3. It brushes on—it's easy to apply . . . does away with both bothersome, constant spraying.
4. It stays on — doesn't brush off or blow away. You apply it once and it lasts.
5. It's safe—eliminates irritating fumes and other dangers of spraying.
6. It kills and keeps on killing — one application has lethal effects for months.
7. It's economical — can be applied without waste to the spots where it does the most good . . . gives lasting protection against bugs.

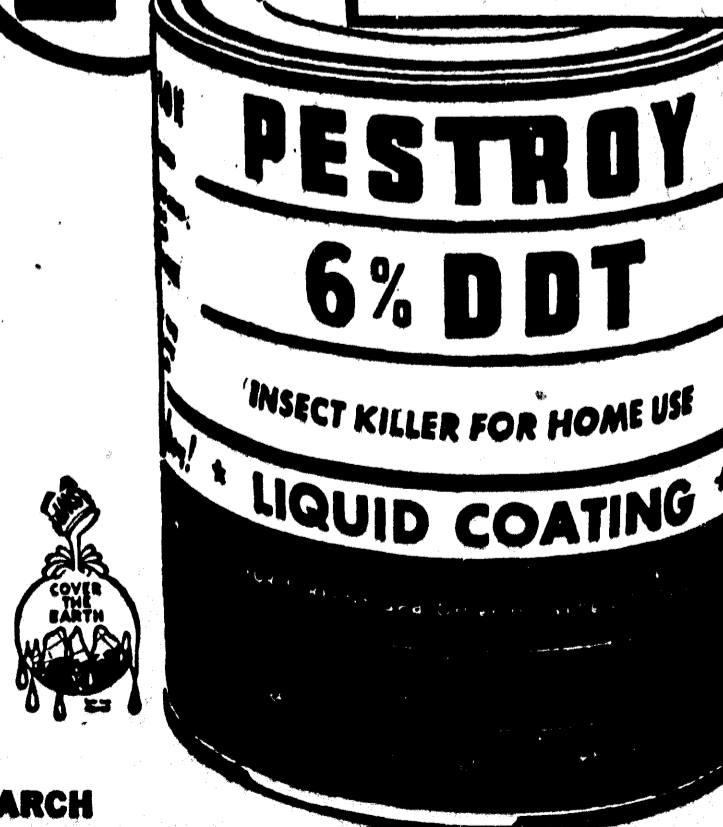

PESTROY KILLS
FLIES, MOSQUITOES;
ants, roaches, crickets;
moths, bedbugs, wasps;
silverfish; gnats;
beetles, fleas, lice, many other insect pests.

MONROE LIONS GO TO BASTROP

Participate In Charter Night
Exercises At Country Club

A large Monroe Lions Club delegation attended the charter night exercises of the Lions Club formed under sponsorship of the local group. The program was in the nature of a banquet at the Morehouse Country Club and 125 were in attendance. The meeting was called to order by Clayton Moore, president of the new club and the assemblage joined in singing "America," after which the president introduced the toastmaster, A. B. Clarkson, Monroe, past district governor of Lions. Invocation was by Rev. J. B. Harper.

Following the introduction of guests, the welcome address was given by Judge Edward L. Gladney, Jr., with response by George D. Holland, Monroe.

Entertainment numbers were by a quartet composed of F. E. Smith, Will Darden, Charlie Byrd and Zan Dew with Miss Mary Evelyn Durden, accompanist.

The charter was formally presented by D. W. McBride, district governor of Lions and the acceptance was by the club president, Clayton Moore. Mr. Clarkson next introduced the guest speaker, E. C. Gibson, Monroe, past international director of Lions, who gave an inspirational address. Benediction was by Rev. H. M. Bennett.

Officers of the newly-formed club are: Clayton Moore, president; Maurice Raphael, first vice-president; Murphy Oliver, second vice-president; Douglas Bickey, secretary and treasurer; S. R. Montcalm, Lion fomer; and Max Brodnax, tail twister. The club starts off with 35 members.

ROBT. F. COOK, TEXAS RANCHER, BACK ON VISIT

Robert F. Cook, rancher of Clint, Tex., near El Paso, is a week-end visitor in Monroe, his former home, and is visiting a brother, Duncan S. Cook, district manager for the state conservation department.

The Cook brothers are sons of the late A. G. Cook, who was editor of the News-Star for 20 years prior to 1924, when he went to Baton Rouge as editor of the state highway department magazine under appointment by Governor Henry Fuqua.

WILL INCREASE ARMED FORCES

War Department To Require Additional Men In Service

The war department has announced the increase in quotas, for recall of active duty, of 1,000 National Guard and reserve officers of all grades for service with the civil affairs division, an additional 40 for service with the intelligence division, 35 for service with foreign liquidation commission, and 50 additional for service with finance department.

This and previous authorizations make a total of 7,589 vacancies available to officers who have gone on inactive duty or terminal leave but who desire further active duty. War department representatives indicated that this number may be increased in the near future.

Although the war department is authorized to recall officers to active duty without their consent during the emergency, it is desired to fill these vacancies with volunteers. Accordingly, quotas have been established to meet the needs of each of the branches of service whose personnel problems have been made acute by the rapid demobilization of the army.

Volunteers under this program may elect to serve for an unlimited length of time or for a 12, 18 or 24-month period. The war department, recognizing that such volunteer officers should have some degree of assurance that their services will be utilized for the entire period for which they volunteer, plans for this policy to remain in effect until the army obtains a permanent post-war status. At present, the war department cannot foresee any circumstances which would cause separation of officers prior to the completion of their volunteer period.

Previously announced quotas are as follows: Corps of engineers, quartermaster corps, signal corps, transportation corps, and ordnance department, 500 each; chaplains corps, chemical warfare service, and branch material, 300 each; medical administrative corps, 200; adjutant general's department, counter intelligence corps, medical corps and dental corps, 100 each; judge advocate general's department, corps of military police, hospital dietitians of the medical department, and sanitary corps, 50 each; and finance department and veterinary corps, 25 each.

The army ground forces has a quota of 2,000 officers of the combat arms in the grade of captain and lieutenant only, and the army air forces has an allotment of 150 non-pilot technical specialists.

Officers desiring to volunteer for return to active duty must apply in writing to the adjutant general, war department, Washington 25, D. C., and must meet the physical standards for overseas service. Application forms may be obtained at any army installation, army recruiting station, or officers' reserve corps headquarters. In the event an officer on inactive status, desiring active duty, does not have a reserve or National Guard commission, he may apply for active duty providing he has applied for a reserve commission. Qualified applicants may be recalled pending action on appointment in the officers' reserve corps. However, non acceptance within ten days of the appointment in the officers' reserve corps, when tendered, will be cause for relief from active duty.

Although officers returning to duty from an inactive status are eligible for overseas assignment, recall to active duty does not necessarily mean the officer will immediately be assigned overseas. Credit will be given for previous overseas service in the same manner as for officers who have remained on active duty. It is pointed out that dependents are authorized in many overseas stations and that choice of theater is given due consideration.

Officers recalled to active duty will be recalled in a grade not higher than that in which the officer served immediately prior to processing for relief from active duty. This is necessary in the interest of fairness to those officers who remained on active duty and have not received a promotion which certain officers receive at the time of their separation. Officers recalled to active duty will be subject to any general demotion procedure in the same manner as all other officers on active duty, but in no case will they be reduced lower than the permanent grade held on December 7, 1941. At this time no reductions in grade are being made.

As was pointed out in a preceding paragraph, officers applying for recall to active duty must have an appointment in the National Guard of officers' reserve corps, or must make application for appointment in officers' reserve corps in order to be recalled; however, this does not apply to women's army corps, warrant officers, hospital dietitians, nurses and physical therapists who are not eligible for the officers' reserve corps but are eligible for recall to active duty. Regular army enlisted personnel who are former officers are also eligible under the current regulations for recall to active duty.

and shall continue free of controls after Aug. 20.

Mr. Truman, in his message to Congress after signing the bill Thursday, had promised that the board members would be "men in whose judgment and fairness the congress and the country will have complete confidence." He told his news conference, too, that he aimed at an unpacked jury.

The OPA meanwhile gave industry and consumers their first clear view of sweeping exemptions which removed about half of all food products from price control under the OPA revival act.

Ceilings are knocked out, Price Administrator Paul Porter revealed, on all items containing 20 per cent or more by volume of meat, poultry and eggs, dairy products, or cotton seed and soy bean derivatives. The law bars ceilings on anything made in "substantial part" from these farm products and OPA decided 20 per cent is "substantial."

This lifts the price lid from most mayonnaise, salad dressings, margarine and vegetable shortenings; animal gelatin and lard; canned chicken and powdered eggs, butter, cheese and ice cream; soy bean food products and soy flour and bread.

NEW ORLEANS, July 27.—(P)—Roy L. Thompson, president of the Federal Land Bank in New Orleans, expressed surprise today over his appointment to the new price control board.

"It's all news to me," he said from his summer home at Bay St. Louis, Miss. "Frankly I've got to get better acquainted with the OPA and all of its developments."

However, the 55-year-old land bank head added that he was asked several days ago about "working on the board," and said he replied that "I'd be glad to render any service I could."

Thompson, whose appointment was announced today, along with two other members, by President Truman, is likely to become board chairman, it was stated.

Thompson, who has been devoting his entire time to the presidency of the land bank here since 1942, said he expects to retain the post.

"As I understand it the position to which the president has just appointed me should not require my full time," he said. "I believe I can manage to do both positions, going to Washington whenever it is necessary to carry out work of the price control board there."

Thompson said he has sold his home in New Orleans, but hopes to move back here as soon as he can find another home, which, he said, "is no small job in itself."

Thompson, born in Pike county, Miss., was brought to Louisiana by his parents when about six months old. He was reared on his father's farm in Tangipahoa parish.

After he became married, he decided he wanted to go to college and get a degree, so he enrolled in Louisiana State University and studied agriculture and agricultural education.

The Thompsons have three small children, two daughters and one son. Thompson first taught vocational agriculture at St. Mary's College, Centerville, La., and then became an assistant professor of economics at Louisiana State University in 1923.

Later he obtained his master's degree in economics from the University of Wisconsin, returned to the L. S. U. faculty, and then attended the University of Minnesota, where he obtained his doctor of philosophy degree in 1929.

After further connection with the L. S. U. faculty he was "loaned" to the Farm Credit Administration by the college for 30 days in 1933, and Thompson relates:

"I've been with the Farm Credit Administration ever since."

Thompson is a member of the New Orleans Rotary club and the exclusive Boston club.

last night, Mrs. Lambert told a reporter "I doubt if I could have done it if I had not been thinking everything through, but I did."

"I felt that I was hindering my husband's work and on impulse that Sunday I decided to leave. People are going to think that we quarreled but we didn't at all."

"I guess there's such a thing as loving someone too much—I guess I love my husband too much. His work was very heavy and getting heavier all the time and he didn't have the time to spend with me that I wanted him to."

She added that "too many things have happened in the last year or two that interfered with our happy lives," and told about their 17-year-old son who was killed on Okinawa. The couple has two other children.

Friends, relatives and members of the Church in The Country kept watch at train and bus stations during the time Mrs. Lambert was missing. She was staying at a hotel here, where she said she had planned to get work.

But, holding hands today with her beaming husband, the preacher's wife was happy to be going home.

"I promised the congregation we'd be back in time for Sunday evening service," Lambert said, "and after that, we're going to plan a long honeymoon."

He worried more during these six days than I ever have before in all my life," he said.

friction left in the wake of the last war."

Thus far progress in peace-making has been "the product of compromise," Byrnes said and he declared there is "no use to pretend that more compromises will not be necessary if we are to go the rest of the way."

"But the compromises we have reached and these I hope we will reach will be compromises intended to reconcile honest conflicts of opinion and not to secure selfish advantage for ourselves or others."

Byrnes departed on the president's personal plane amid more fanfare than has marked any of his previous six trips to Europe in the year he has been secretary.

Mr. Truman wished him "Godspeed" and told a crowd of onlookers, estimated by police officials at about 3,000, that the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government were well represented in the ceremony arranged to start him on his journey.

"If that is not a wholehearted send-off, I have never seen one," the president said, and the crowd applauded.

"That means," Mr. Truman continued, "that the country is behind Mr. Byrnes in his efforts to get a just peace for the world, a peace founded on the Atlantic Charter, and the charter of the United Nations on which this country squarely stands, now and from this time forward."

"Good luck, Mr. Byrnes," the chief executive called.

Byrnes said he is "hopeful that we will be able, at the end of the peace conference which meets on Monday, to sign the first peace treaties."

In his speech he emphasized two points:

1. That president and Congress, Republican and Democrat are all working together on questions of international policy and establishment of peace.

2. That the United States will not resume "isolation."

Persons familiar with Byrnes' views know that he has at times been very concerned lest the difficulty of making peace and the compromises which he contends have to be adopted should discourage the American people and bring new isolation sentiment. Today, he told the airport crowd:

"We are all working together not as partisans of any political party, or of any branch of government; we are working together as Americans. We are of one mind that America must never return to isolation. However difficult may be the path of international cooperation, we know there can be no security in isolation."

He added that the American people must be united always on foreign issues because "the world cannot rely upon the cooperation of a divided America whose foreign policy is guided by temporary political expediency."

As for the peace treaties themselves, Byrnes said they are "only a part, and that the real peace must come from the hearts of men and from their willingness to show the blessings of peace with all their neighbors."

A sharp conflict is already shaping up for the conference between Byrnes and Russian Foreign Minister Molotov over Soviet reparation demands on Hungary.

The United States is insisting that a new economic deal in Hungary is essential to establishment of a firm peace in Europe. It has protested strongly Red army seizures of Hungarian foodstuffs and Soviet removal of Hungarian factories as well as current industrial production, contending the result is economic chaos in the Balkan nation.

The protest, made public by the state department last night, highlights the difficulties confronting Byrnes as he sets out for Paris.

Byrnes briefly reviewed some of his Paris projects at a news conference. He said that he planned on Monday to confer with the three American members of a joint Anglo-American committee on Palestine. The aim is to fix American policy on the committee's proposal for partitioning Palestine between Jews and Arabs in conference with the plan for immigration of 100,000 Jews.

It was learned from informed persons that the British are ready to accept the principle of the immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews, as urged by Mr. Truman, but feel the project cannot be carried out until after further conferences with Jewish and Arab leaders.

On most major issues, he made clear, the United States is already committed to act with the other great powers—Russia, Britain and France—as a result of compromise agreements made in the recent foreign minister conferences. However, on issues on which no final commitment has been made the United States will have the right to fight for its own solution. This may mean conflict with Russia on several points of Balkan policy, particularly such matters as free navigation of the Danube.

In the case of Hungary, the treaty worked out by the foreign ministers provides for reparations payments of $500,000 to Czechoslovakia, but the United States has specifically reserved the right to demand a revision of this section. Last night's disclosures of the protest to Russia made it appear certain that such a demand would be made.

This same bomb might have killed half a million people if dropped on New York City.

come out of the committee until the peace treaty conferences in Paris end. A report to Secretary General Trygve Lie on the United Nations by a group of planning experts didn't even mention the committee, which the chapter says "shall advise and assist the security council on all questions relating to the security council's military requirements for the maintenance of international peace and security, the employment and command of forces placed at its disposal, and the regulation of armaments, and possible disarmament."

These same experts did lay down some duties for the council's "enforcement measures divisions," which is supposed to advise the council on political aspects of military matters and among other things prepare for publication a yearbook on armaments.

A spokesman for that embryonic division said it can't do anything until the military staff committee does something and they can't find out what the committee is doing.

The spokesman said he guessed they eventually would have to get the military data for their yearbook from the committee.

the law. Five hundred dollars will be for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of each participant in the massacre. These rewards will total more than $10,000. The lawless gang must be arrested and brought to justice."

The governor added "this mass murder is one of the worst incidents ever to take place in our state. The killing of innocent people is disgraceful morally and legally."

"I am urging the local law enforcement officials of Walton county and all state agents to leave nothing undone in ferreting out the guilty parties. Civilized people everywhere will watch developments in connection with this heinous crime."

The governor, whose term expires next Jan. 4, almost injected the recent gubernatorial campaign in which the chief issue was "white supremacy" into the special press conference.

He started to comment that the crime followed on the heels of the nomination of Eugene Talmadge, but quickly changed the subject.

The only comment to come from Talmadge was that "such incidents are to be regretted." Talmadge is vacationing in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Meanwhile, preparations for the burial of Roger Malcolm, his wife, George Dorsey and his wife, victims of the lynchings, were attracting scores of visitors to the funeral parlor in which their bodies lie.

Shortly after the shooting was made public yesterday, agents of the Georgia bureau of investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation swarmed into the county. In the course of routine work, bullets were taken from the bodies for checking by ballistics experts.

Meanwhile, there were expressions of public concern over the lynching. Grand Dragon Samuel Green of the Ku Klux Klan said his organization "had nothing to do" with the mob action, but that he expected Arnall "will try to pin it on us."

Green also declared "we have no Klan chapter in Monroe. I know the Klan had nothing to do with the killings."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, through Secretary Walter White in New York, charged in a telegram to Attorney General Tom Clark that reports of actions of officials in Walton county indicated they had knowledge, lynchings were to take place.

To this charge, Sheriff E. S. Gordon of Walton county replied: "You just tell 'em it's a dam lie. I don't care who said it."

In Birmingham, Ala., the Southern Negro Youth Congress wrote U. S. Attorney General Thomas Clark, asking that martial law be declared and a house to house search conducted for the slayers.

Rep. Marcantonio (AL-N. Y.) asked President Truman for "prompt" federal intervention. In a telegram, the New York congressman said "unless immediate government action is taken, there will be a repetition of lynchings as a result of recent incidents of violence made by Bilbos and Talmadges."

The Maryland conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People also asked Truman to intervene.

The Civil Rights Congress in New York was reported to have offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty.

Major William E. Spence of the G. B. I., (which is patterned after the F. B. I.) after a day and night of intense work suggested that the bloody murders were a "rehearsed affair."

Said Spence: "It looks like it was a rehearsed affair. It looks like it might have been planned since the Negro was first confined to jail."

The G. B. I. head referred to Roger Malcolm, 27, who had been released on a $500 bond on a charge of stabbing his employer, Barney Hester.

The only comment on the lynching to come from Eugene Talmadge, recently nominated for a fourth term as Georgia's governor on a "white supremacy" platform, was that "such incidents are to be regretted."

Talmadge is vacationing in Cheyenne, Wyo.

The details of the ghastly lynching were related by Loy Harrison, a well-to-do farmer who was held at gun point by the mob. He was taking the four Negroes to his farm to work after getting Malcolm out on bond.

Harrison said the band of 20 armed and unmasked men which waylaid them was led by a "tall, dignified white man" who counted "One, two, three" as three volleys were fired into the Negroes, lined up abreast.

"The leader looked like a retired business man," he said. "He was about 65, wore a brown suit and had on a big broad-brimmed hat. He looked like he had a good Florida sun-tan."

The mob, he said, first took the Negro men out of the car and bound their arms behind them. Then, when one of the women recognized a member of the mob, several men came and took them too, he said.

"I didn't have anything but a pocket knife," Harrison said. "What could I do?"

He started to comment that the crime followed on the heels of the nomination of Eugene Talmadge, but quickly changed the subject.

The only comment to come from Talmadge was that "such incidents are to be regretted." Talmadge is vacationing in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Meanwhile, preparations for the burial of Roger Malcolm, his wife, George Dorsey and his wife, victims of the lynchings, were attracting scores of visitors to the funeral parlor in which their bodies lie.

Shortly after the shooting was made public yesterday, agents of the Georgia bureau of investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation swarmed into the county. In the course of routine work, bullets were taken from the bodies for checking by ballistics experts.

Meanwhile, there were expressions of public concern over the lynching. Grand Dragon Samuel Green of the Ku Klux Klan said his organization "had nothing to do" with the mob action, but that he expected Arnall "will try to pin it on us."

Green also declared "we have no Klan chapter in Monroe. I know the Klan had nothing to do with the killings."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, through Secretary Walter White in New York, charged in a telegram to Attorney General Tom Clark that reports of actions of officials in Walton county indicated they had knowledge, lynchings were to take place.

To this charge, Sheriff E. S. Gordon of Walton county replied: "You just tell 'em it's a dam lie. I don't care who said it."

In Birmingham, Ala., the Southern Negro Youth Congress wrote U. S. Attorney General Thomas Clark, asking that martial law be declared and a house to house search conducted for the slayers.

Rep. Marcantonio (AL-N. Y.) asked President Truman for "prompt" federal intervention. In a telegram, the New York congressman said "unless immediate government action is taken, there will be a repetition of lynchings as a result of recent incidents of violence made by Bilbos and Talmadges."

The Maryland conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People also asked Truman to intervene.

The Civil Rights Congress in New York was reported to have offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty.

Major William E. Spence of the G. B. I., (which is patterned after the F. B. I.) after a day and night of intense work suggested that the planned to recommend a veto to the White House.

Krug said he believes it is the duty of the Supreme Court and not of Congress to decide whether the state or the federal government shall hold title to the disputed lands. A case on the issue is pending in the supreme court.

Some legislators have said, however, that a veto might be interpreted as a slap at Edwin W. Pauley, close friend of the president, who has vigorously supported the measure. In turn, they declared, it would represent a triumph for former Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who has been vociferous in his disapproval of the bill.

The bill's opponents argued that its passage would mean "giving away" of oil reserves needed for the nation's defense.

Supporters replied, that by tradition through the years the states and individuals living in them have had undisputed title to the properties.

into tears, and collapsed of nervous exhaustion, Antrican said.

During the time officers were arguing with the prisoner, he appeared very nervous and several times his fingers trembled on the trigger of the gun, which was found to contain four shells. Antrican related.

A small collection was taken in the crowd, which gathered in front of the jail, to aid efforts to have his sentence reduced, and both county and state officials agreed to waive Indiana authorities and urge the reduction of the 10-year sentence for grand larceny.

ATTLEE REPLACES BEVIN AS DELEGATE TO PARIS

LONDON, July 27.—(P)—Ernest Bevin, blunt, outspoken foreign secretary, fell sick today and his mild-mannered chief, Prime Minister Attlee, stepped into his shoes as head of the British delegation to the peace conference.

The last minute shift, giving Attlee the foremost role in a comparatively unfamiliar field of direct across-the-table dealings, was announced by the foreign office, which said the hard-working Bevin was "slightly indisposed" and had been ordered to take at least a week's complete rest.

There was no immediate indication whether Bevin, who spoke and spoke plainly—for his country in all preliminary negotiations on the peace treaties for Germany's former satellites—would resume his place after the enforced rest.

Secretary Ernest Bevin; French president and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault; Australian Minister of External Affairs H. V. Evatt; Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk; New Zealand Finance Minister Walter Nash and Canadian Prime Minister W. L. McKenzie King.

Molotov and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky arrived in Paris this afternoon. Byrnes is expected tomorrow.

L. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, and Gen. Georges Catroux, French ambassador to Russia, are among the military figures who will attend.

Diplomatic informants say the conference, while in many respects a mere formality, "will be as important as the big four want it to be."

They explained that this hinges on whether the four powers who drafted the treaties encourage, either openly or secretly, suggested by the smaller nations, whether they agree later to incorporate such recommendations into the treaties, and whether they might increase the conference's scope by asking other nations to come.

Miss Shea Is Named Honor Guest At Tea

Miss Jane Shea, who was recently elected Grand Worthy Advisor of the Rainbow for Girls of Louisiana was named guest of honor at a seated tea given by members of Dixie chapter O. E. S. 179 at the Masonic Temple between the hours of four and six.

Miss Shea, wearing a lovely, floor length frock of pink crepe with pink flowers in her hair, stood with her mother, Mrs. Florence Shea and her aunt, Mrs. Grover Cornett to receive the guests. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. J. C. Castles, mother advisor and Mrs. Ruby Sager, worthy matron of Dixie chapter. They all wore summery, floor length models. The reception room of the Temple was banked with beautiful flowers on this occasion. The tea table, overlaid with lace, was adorned with a crystal basket overflowing with pastel shaded flowers. Candles gleamed in either end of the table in silver candelabra. Mrs. Mildred Schrader presided over the crystal punch bowl from which was served frosted punch. A variety of confections embossed in the rainbow colors were served by Miss Marjorie McCoy, Miss Geraldine Jones, Miss Dorothy Jones, Miss Nina Maddox and Miss Patsy Mims.

Mr. E. M. Wooten, worthy patron of Dixie chapter sang a group of songs accompanied by Miss Geneva Castles at the piano. Several humorous readings by Mrs. Frank Simpson concluded the program. More than one hundred guests called during the receiving hours.

Weddings

The wedding of Miss Pauline Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Dalton Freeman, and Leonard John Lees, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lees, of Minneapolis, Minn., took place at St. Agnes Catholic Church in Tallulah, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. R. M. Moore officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

Mr. Joseph Dahlbaiser, organist, and Will Harvey, violinist, played "I Love You Truly" and accompanied Mrs. T. A. Cagnoliatti, who sang "Ave Maria." To the strains of "The Wedding March" from "Lohengrin," the bride party entered. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Chase of Chase, Louisiana, wore a gown of blue marquisette with a corsage of pink gladioli; and Mrs. Mae Cagnoliatti wore pink marquisette with a corsage of white gladioli. They wore headresses of net with shoulder veils to match.

The flower girl, Katherine Yeates, wore pink net and carried a basket of daisies. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin and net fashioned with a tight fitting bodice with self-covered buttons extending down the back, the long marquisette sleeves ended in lily points over the hands, her finger veil of net fell from a coronet of lilies of the valley, and she carried a white prayer book marked with a shower bouquet of white carnations.

The bridegroom had as his best man Mark Freeman, brother of the bride; and Ray Lees, brother of the groom, served as groomsmen. The ushers were H. M. Foster and John Simpson. The bride's mother wore an evening dress with eyelid embroidery, black and white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Iced punch, sandwiches, cake, and minis were served from the beautifully appointed table adorned with white flowers and white candles in crystal candelabra.

The bride changed her wedding attire for a traveling suit of blue with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The couple left for a trip to Jackson and will return here before leaving for Minneapolis where they will make their home at 2630 Blaisdell avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Tallulah High School and the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing. She served in the armed forces in Panama and Germany. Mr. Lees received his education at North Branch, Minnesota, and served for 20 months in the Pacific. He is employed by a paint and oil company in Minneapolis.

The marriage ceremony uniting Miss Edna Earl Middleton and Mr. Corbin Sanderford, Sunday, July 14, at 5 p. m. was memorable, as it was the first ever performed in the New Light Baptist Church in Mangham, La. Myriads of flowers in the many summer colors interspersed with English ivy and evergreens banked the altar and were placed at vantage points. White candles gleamed in tall candelabra.

While Mrs. Mable Nash at the piano played nuptial numbers the ushers, Jerry Jones and Leo Cheek, lifelong friends of the groom, lighted the candles. Miss Elaine Windham, accompanied by Mrs. Nash, sang "Oh, Promise Me."

The wedding party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding March. Mrs. Middleton, the bride's mother, served as matron of honor and was becomingly attired in a light blue ensemble with corsage of pink, pom-pom asters. Mrs. Berlin Hale, cousin of the bride and her only other attendant, was outstanding in a blue outfit with contrasting pink corsage.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Tim Middleton, wore a beautiful white, tailored, summer-weight wool cashmere suit, with azure blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother was attractively dressed in a printed model with corsage of asters.

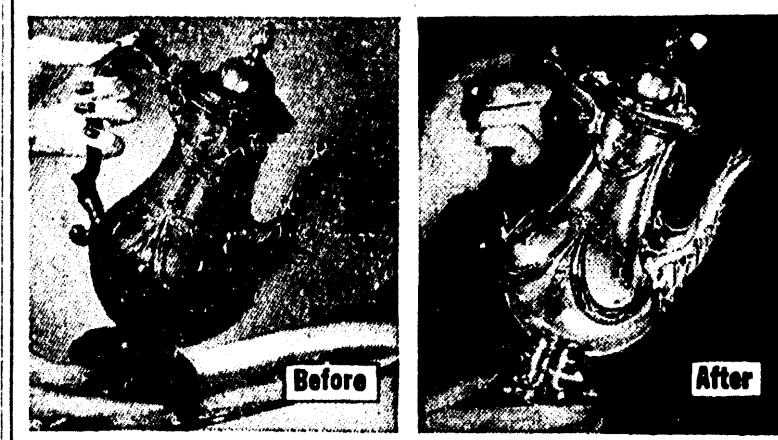

Mr. Traylor Jones, a close friend of both families, served as the groom's best man.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. P. Arender, and was attended by close friends and relatives. After the ceremony an informal reception was held on the spacious, tree-shaded lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Traylor Jones. The bride's table was overlaid with a beautiful hand-crocheted table cloth. An arrangement of pastel dahlias and fern formed the central decor. The bride's cake was a delicious two-tiered confection surmounted with bride and groom figurine's. It was cut by the bride and groom.

mony was performed by Rev. L. P. Arender, and was attended by close friends and relatives. After the ceremony an informal reception was held on the spacious,

HOSTESSES ENTERTAIN WITH LOVELY PRENUP TIAL COURTESIES FOR MISS ZELDA MOSS

Miss Zelda Moss, whose engagement to Mr. Marion Hargrove is of interest to friends has been extensively entertained with prenuptial courtesies during the past week.

Mrs. B. L. Mulhern and Mrs. Leona Cook were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous gift shower honoring Miss Moss at the home of Mrs. Mulhern, 1809 Jackson street. Pink gladioli, daisies, dahlias and pink roses were used in beautiful arrangements as the floral decoration.

The beautiful gifts were presented in an extremely clever and attractive manner. A large pink and blue umbrella, with the gifts spilling from it, was placed beneath a suspended garden sprinkler, tied with pink and blue ribbons. Myriad pink and blue ribbons streamed from the sprinkler into the umbrella.

Delicious refreshments of lime sherbet and ginger ale and a variety of confections were served by Miss Josephine McCranie.

On the same day, Mrs. T. O. Brown and Mrs. James Drew entertained for Miss Moss with a tea at the home of Mrs. Brown. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a plaque of white and yellow daisies. Mrs. John Sallsburg, Miss Carrie Dee Drew, Miss Alma Patrick, Miss Claudine Davis, and Mrs. Elizabeth Guier assisted the hostesses in serving refreshments to the hundred and fifty guests.

Miss Josephine McCranie was hostess at a beautifully appointed dinner party for Miss Moss at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. D. McCranie, 1210 Park avenue. Another dinner party was given by Mrs. Williams Rodriguez and Mrs. George Riser at the Lotus Club. On the latter occasion, Miss Moss was presented with a beautiful silver bread tray.

Purely Personal

Mrs. Lottie C. Beard, 1013 North Fourth street this city, recently received the following letter from her daughter, Mrs. Mary Beard Yancey, a civilian government worker who has been with the USEET in Germany for the past seven months. The letter was written from Frankfurt:

Dearest Mother,
I intended writing you ever since I returned from England but some how had so much to do I just haven't gotten around to it. I had a perfectly marvelous time and will try to tell you about most of it.
We left here Friday night at 7:30 on the 28th and arrived in Paris at 9:30 the following morning. At 11:30 that same morning we left on the "Golden Arrow" (a special fast train) for London. The train arrived at Calais, France at 4:00. There we boarded a boat and crossed the Channel only 22 miles in 2 hours to arrive at Dover. The white cliffs of Dover became a reality and were quite beautiful that sunny afternoon. We arrived at 6:00. Then after an hour going through Customs, we boarded the train for London, arriving there about 9:00 p. m. (this being Sat. night).

Sunday morning we got up early to start our day of sightseeing. We got to St. Paul's Cathedral for church. That afternoon we went to Hampton Court, about a 30 minute train ride from London. They have a beautiful Castle there which we went through; also a beautiful Dutch Garden—well planned and landscaped. You remember the picture "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," well, we went through the Maze which you saw in that picture. We also got lost in it and had to get someone to lead us out. Hampton Court is a popular spot where people go for holidays and Sundays. They have tea rooms everywhere and we had tea there before starting back to London.

Monday morning we called a few people, friends had asked us to, and that afternoon started seeing London from Piccadilly Circus, West Minister Abbey, No. 10 Downing Street, St. Margaret's Chapel, attended a session of Parliament (House of Commons) saw where Eisenhower had his headquarters during the war, saw all their government buildings, Buckingham Palace, in fact everything. We went to the Palace grounds, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret drove out. They look just like their pictures. Then we went to St. Giles Cathedral, University of Edinburgh and by then it was getting on into the afternoon and we took a bus ride to their famous bridge, the Faith.

Wednesday morning we caught the train to Glasgow (1 hour ride) and took an all day boat trip up Loch Lomond. It was really beautiful and we had a book that told us the history of each island and rock. We ate dinner at a nice place in Glasgow on the way back and then went back to Edinburgh.

Thursday it rained and I might add it was the only time it even sprinkled the whole trip. That afternoon we tried to shop; however, all things are rationed so we could buy nothing. We did manage to get a plaid skirt. Each Clan in Scotland has a certain plaid and my skirt is from the MacPherson Clan. A woman, who used to keep Americans on leave during the war at her place, stopped us and said she had two kilts she had managed to get for two girls but had lost their addresses and so wanted to get rid of them. The plaid was lovely. Of course we figured later it was a line she was using, but we were glad to get the skirts since we had no coupons. That afternoon it cleared and we took a bus to a small town just to see what a small town in Scotland is like. We had tea there and returned to Edinburgh. We then took the train for London at 9:40 that night.

We arrived in London Friday morning about 8:00. We went to the hotel, cleaned up, and started sightseeing again. We saw the Tower of London. That afternoon we went to Wimbledon to see the World's Championship Tennis Matches. It is famous for the tennis matches held there. We saw Petra of France beat Brown of Australia in men's single finals. Also saw some women's doubles semi-finals. It was wonderful and a huge crowd was there. That night we attended the theatre and saw the Stage Play (comedy) "Better Late" with Beatrice Lillie.

Saturday morning we caught the train for Stratford-on-Avon (Shakespeare's home) and that is a wonderful place. The town is very quaint and you would never know there had been a war. You might be living 50 years ago, the atmosphere is such. They were having the yearly Shakespeare Festival—putting on a lot of Shakespeare's plays but were sold out and we could have gone had we had time. We came back by Oxford and saw the University. It is not like the Universities at home but is several colleges located in different parts of the town. It isn't as pretty a town as Stratford-on-Avon.

That about ended our trip. We caught the plane Sunday at 9:00 a. m. for Paris and got there at 10:15 a. m. All the tennis stars were catching the plane for Dublin when we were leaving for Paris. We had a real French dinner at noon in Paris. We went into a French restaurant and could not speak French. Orpha asked if the waitress spoke German and she did (learned during German occupation I guess). Two American girls sat in a French restaurant and ordered lunch in German. I think the people thought we were crazy. At 5:00 that afternoon we caught the train for Frankfurt and got here Monday morning at 8:00 a. m.

I believe I loved Scotland more than any other place. The people are so friendly there; they stop you on the street and ask if you are having a good time and if you like Scotland. It's really funny. The people in London, however, were nice to us too. The Thursday we were in Scotland the Queen and King gave a garden party for 7,500 royalty and high government officials from all over Scotland. All day long you would see men in high hats and tails; the highlanders came dressed in kilts. It was really quite a show and a great number of the people stayed at the same hotel we were in. Each evening in the hotels in England and Scotland they serve tea, drinks (alcoholic) and coffee until midnight and most people sit in this lounge and talk and drink tea for the most part. Well, that night after the garden party, we sat for hours and watched and listened to them—it was a riot. In Scotland the women wear tweeds almost exclusively and no makeup to amount to anything. They are very plain people and it does not bother them what the other fellow might have. I wish I might have been able to get some tweed material; it's lovely but rationed, scarce and expensive. They wore more hats (ladies) in Scotland than in London for very few people wore hats in London. We wore our uniforms exclusively as it is easier to travel that way; especially going through customs entering England going over and entering France coming back.

We had lovely hotels to stay in but English food is dull. There is a definite shortage of food in England but even so it is very unappetizing. I'm told even before the war English food wasn't very exciting. They use no seasoning at all. We got several really tasty meals and starved not at all, however.

I don't know if you can tell very much from this scrawl but I did have a nice trip. To be able to read all the signs and speak to people and have them speak back so you could understand was out of this world. We saw only 3 or 4 American service people while over there; we have just about closed out of England.

Midsummer comes, and there's an urge to get up and go, to pause at the thousand peaks of the Rockies and small the spruce, the rainous pine, the elusive odor of glaciers and then go on to the hot desert basins where mingle the sweet smells of sage and sand and orchard and alfalfa fields. Motorists this year are looking toward the high ranges of New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming which once were black with buffalo and now are cattle country. Others turn to the red corn lands of Georgia and the black muck and white sands of Florida, to the Alleghenies with their long morning shadows out across the wide lands where the Ohio flows and the Wabash and the Illinois know no horizon. Others are motoring along the eastern seaboard where little towns have the fresh, saltmarsh smell.

The city will be quite deserted when August comes if vacationists continue to leave on trips as planned. The trip planned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trammell and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ray reads like a travelogue. They will motor through the Carolinas and along the eastern seaboard with New York City and Washington, D. C., their main objective.

One group of motorists, Mrs. E. N. Jackson and daughter, Miss Mary Alice Jackson and Miss Vivian Harper and Mrs. Alfred Reid, are having a wonderful vacation. They followed two different routes going and returning from Washington, D. C., where a few days were spent in sight-seeing and visiting every spot of historical interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kellogg and son, Robert, motored West for a vacation in Colorado Springs. They are now guests at the beautiful Broadmoor Hotel.

A vacation in the beautiful Ozark Mountains has been planned by several Monroe families. Mrs. Charles Womack and son, Mark, and Mrs. Foster Wallace and two sons, Jim and Steven, will leave early next Sunday morning for Bella Vista where they have rented a cottage until the first of September. They will be joined later by Mrs. Thomas Davenport and children and Mrs. Alston Propitt and children who will occupy an adjoining cottage until September.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Oliver, Jr., and two children, Sally and Travis, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. McSherry and daughter, Cathie, will form a family party motoring next Sunday morning to Bella Vista for a two weeks' vacation. They will be guests at Sunset Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sparks are vacationing in Detroit, Mich., where they are visiting Mr. Sparks' aunt, Mrs. Janet Powell. They will visit points in Canada before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers will be off early in August for Mexico City and all the nearby places of interest

A wedding of interest to many friends and relatives in Louisiana and Mississippi took place at Tallulah Presbyterian Church Saturday morning, July 20, at 9:30, when Miss Roberta Sevier, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Sevier, became the bride of Robert Wiley Gandy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiley Gandy, of Tallulah. The impressive double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. J. Samuel Lack.

Tall, white floor baskets filled with white gladioli and fern, potted palms, and gleaming cathedral candles in white floor standards entwined with white and tied with bows of mauve and white althea blossoms, adorned the chancel. Sprays of English ivy hung from the arch above and festooned the windows. White asters and fern tied with white satin bows marked the reserved pews.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Miss Geneva Roundtree played "Clair de lune" by Debussy and accompanied Mrs. W. L. Roundtree, who sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg and "Because." The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Rufus Yeger, who wore a floor length model of white marquisette with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her headpiece was a coronet of pale green tulle and daisies, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and yellow gladioli fluted with green satin and net.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful wedding gown of white marquisette fashioned with a high neck, round yoke and fitted bodice. The long, close fitting sleeves were puffed at the shoulder. The full skirt ended in a long train. Her finger-tip veil was caught to a coronet of pearls. She carried a shimmery bouquet of white carnations, roses, and tuberoses. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Major William Frederick Gandy, of Washington, D. C. The ushers were Harry Holt and Henry Clay Sevier, Jr., brother of the bride. They all wore white linen suits with boutonnières of white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a black model with black accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother wore white embroidered crepe model with black accessories and a corsage of pink souvenir roses.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Baskets of white gladioli and fern, pink and white asters, and pink gladioli and white candles in silver holders were placed at vantage points in the reception suite.

The bride's table was overlaid with madeira cut work and lace and centered with the beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted with bride and groom figurines. Coffee was served from a handsome silver urn.

The individual wedding cakes were served by Miss Warren Buford, Miss Leo Adams, Miss Margaret Webb, Miss Eleanor Gandy, Mrs. Harry Holt, and Miss Lucy Gandy of Percy, Mississippi.

The bride changed her wedding raiment for a smart tulle of navy linen with a short, white linen coat and navy accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. The couple left for a wedding trip and later will reside in Tallulah.

The bride is a graduate of Tallulah High School and attended Belhaven and Southwestern in Memphis. She was a Tri Delta pledge. The groom is also a graduate of Tallulah High School, attended Northeast Junior College, and graduated from L. S. U. with a B. S. degree in agriculture. He was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sholars, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mr. McVey Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Terzia and Leo Terzia, Jr., and Mrs. John Potts of Monroe, Mrs. George Montgomery, and Mrs. Ed Perkins of Delhi.

Miss Wells Is The Bride Of

Mr. Jack Jordan

Of interest to friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mayola Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Wells of Spencer, Louisiana and Mr. Jack Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jordan of Halle, Louisiana. Characterized by simplicity the double ring ceremony was solemnized Saturday, July 13th at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Reverend and Mrs. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Monroe, with relatives and close friends witnessing the ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful summer model of white linen with all accessories of white. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Miss Velma Bush, the bride's attendant, was attired in a two-piece pink model crepe with white carnation corsage.

J. M. Waldrop, Halle, Louisiana served as best man.

Mrs. Jordan is a graduate of Linville High School, Linville, Louisiana and Bish-Mathis Institute, Monroe. She has been employed in the office of the American Red Cross for the past year.

The bride groom is a graduate of Linville High School and attended school at the Northeast Junior College and Louisiana Tech prior to his induction March, 1943. He was discharged from the army where he served in the air corp as a 1st Lt. pilot, March 17, 1946.

Following a honeymoon in Texas, the couple will be at home at 305 Park avenue, Monroe, Louisiana.

Mrs. Stella Hulium, hostess at the Pan-American building on the campus of the Louisiana State University is spending her vacation with her daughter, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., and Mr. Trousdale.

WILL BE AUGUST BRIDE

Miss Pauline Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Donovan, of Monroe, whose approaching marriage to Mr. James Walter Hendrixson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hendrixson, of Columbia, La., will take place August 15.

A wedding of interest to friends in this area was that of Miss Dola Avelyn Green, of Ruston, and Mr. Harry McKenzie, Jr., of Homer, which was solemnized July 18, at the Trinity Methodist church in Ruston.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Green, of West Monroe, was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. M. T. Green. She wore a lovely wedding gown of eyelet organza and net, fashioned with a Sweetheart neckline, plaited hip ruffel, and a bouffant skirt. Her long veil of illusion was caught to a coronet of tulle. The bride's bouquet was of Sweetheart roses and bridal wreath, tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Marvin T. Green, matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Sara McKenzie, and Mrs. Felton Green, wore identical dresses of white point d'esprit with heart shaped caps to match and white net elbow length gloves. Martha Charlotte Green and Roberta Green, flower girls, wore diaphanous dresses of white point d'esprit.

Preceding the ceremony, a nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. Marshall Bretz, professor of music at Louisiana Tech, at the organ, and the soloist, Mrs. John A. Rasmussen, wife of the pastor of the Ruston Trinity Methodist church.

The altar was banked with maiden hair fern and white carnations, against a background of cathedral tapers burning in tall floor candelabra. The Reverend Carl Leug, pastor of the First Methodist church in Ruston, performed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. R. W. Davis, sister of the late Huey P. Long, and Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Green, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake was served from a lace covered table. During the reception, frosted punch was also served to the many guests.

Mrs. McKenzie received her A. B. degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, and was awarded an M. A. degree at the University of Arkansas. She has taught English in the Ruston High School for the past nine years. Mr. McKenzie is the son of Mr. Harry McKenzie, of Homer. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, and is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He served three and a half years overseas, under the command of General Patton. He received his discharge last November, and is now in business in Homer.

The couple will reside in Homer, following their honeymoon in the Ozark mountains.

THE CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

WEST MONROE'S NEW CHURCH—TEMPORARILY WORSHIPPING IN THE COMMUNITY CENTER—CORNER COLEMAN AND S. FIFTH STREETS

We Most Cordially
Invite You to Attend
Services in our Church

Above is a sketch of the proposed church home of this new church. A good lot well located has been secured and the building will be erected as soon as possible.

The Church of the Nazarene is a spiritual and friendly group interested in the spiritual welfare of all people, and desirous of rendering definite help to this city by the salvation of souls.

"The Church of the Nazarene is composed of those persons who have voluntarily associated themselves together according to the doctrines and policy of said church, and who seek holy Christian fellowship, the conversion of sinners, the entire sanctification of believers, their upbuilding in holiness, and the simplicity and spiritual power manifest in the primitive New Testament Church, together with the preaching of the Gospel to every creature.

"It is required of all who desire to unite with the Church of the Nazarene, and thus to walk in fellowship with us, that they shall show evidence of salvation from their sins by a godly walk and vital piety; that they shall be, or earnestly desire to be, cleansed from all in-dwelling sin; and that they shall evidence this—first, by avoiding evil of every kind; second, by doing that which is enjoined in the Word of God, which is both our rule of faith and practice."—Manual, Church of the Nazarene.

RED HOSE MAUL BROWNS, 13 TO 6

Rudy York Hits 2 Homers With Bases Full Each Time To Lead Attack

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—(AP)—Rudy York, clouting Boston Red Sox first baseman equalled the major league record for home runs with the bases full in one game by clouting his 12th and 13th round-trippers of the season in the second and fifth innings tonight against the St. Louis Browns. The Sox mauled the Browns, 13 to 6.

York's feat tied the mark set May 24, 1936 by Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees and equalled on July 4, 1939 by Jim Tabor, then with the Red Sox and now with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Red Sox slugger also drove home two tallies in the first frame with a double to give him 10 runs batted home and a chance to better the mark of 12 runs driven in for one game which Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals set on September 16, 1924.

GUERRIERO GIRLS' SOFTBALL TEAM

BARRON IN FRONT IN ALL-AMERICAN

36-Year-Old Vet Leads By Three Strokes With Final Round Due Today

By Jerry Liska
CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP)—Determined Herman Barron, 36-year-old veteran from White Plains, N. Y., bolstered his bid for the $50,875 All-American Open Golf tournament today with a three-under par 69 to fashion a 54-hole lead of three strokes.

Barron's total was 208, eight under par. Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., moved into the runner up spot with 211 as he also changed a third-round 65.

The smooth-playing Barron, who was a stroke off the pace in the recent U. S. Open championship, opened with a 36 in today's semi-final round, matching par and then stroked home with 33, three under standard.

Ellsworth Vines, national tennis champion in the early thirties, allowed to par 72 for a 54-hole count of 212, four strokes off the pace.

A stroke behind Vines was the season's leading money-winner, Ben Hogan, who blasted a sizzling 67, to get back in the contention with 213. He was followed by Sammy Byrd, the former New York Yankee baseball star, who slapped a 69 for 214.

Barron, who would more than double his present 1946 winnings by defeating Byron Nelson, Vines and Harmon all were in the same three-some finishing near the tail-end of a 103-player professional field.

Nelson, perking for a two-under par 70, his best showing in the tournament he won last year with a 19-under-par 269, was eight strokes off the pace with 216.

Henry Ransom, of Dallas, Tex., Lewis Worsham of Bethesda, Md., and Jimmy Hines of Chicago were deadlocked at 215.

ALL-STARS WILL PLAY DOUBLE HEADER TODAY

The Monroe All-Stars, who lost a three-game series to the Port Gibson, Miss., Adds here last Sunday and Monday, will meet the Natchez Negro team here this afternoon in a double header beginning at 2 o'clock at Casino Park. Manager Joe Guiley announced.

Manager Guiley was not decided on his batteries last night, but the All-Stars expect to get back into the column at the expense of the invaders today.

The beaver is the largest member of the rodent family.

5,924 VETERANS REPORTED HERE

This Number By Actual Count
Listed From World War
Two

Ouachita parish has a World War II veterans population already of 5,924 by actual count and a probable 10 per cent addition represented by men and women who entered the service from some other community. This figure will be increased as further separations are made by the armed services.

Frank Martinez, Jr., regional manager of the Veterans Administration, disclosed the figure on the basis of reports from state selective service headquarters, it was announced by John C. Tucker, contact representative. The tabulation was made so the VA regional office in New Orleans might know how many former service personnel are being assisted in this state.

This figure does not include World

War I veterans and men who saw active duty since 1903.

The VA furnishes medical and hospital care, provides from one to four years schooling with tuition and books supplied by the government and a living allowance ranging from $65 to $90 monthly. It is the means through which a veteran may enter an approved firm, learn a trade and be paid wages at the same time. Further functions of the VA are the guarantee of eligible loans of veterans up to $4,000 for real estate and $2,000 for non-real estate purchases; financial aid to eligible veterans during critical periods of adjustment to civilian life, and operation of the world's biggest insurance business through National Service Life Insurance originally issued to men while in service.

MARX WRITES NEW POPULAR SONG HIT

Joe Marx, Jr., well known veteran of the First World War who because of impaired health was forced to leave Monroe and take up his residence in San Antonio, Tex., has devoted much time to song-writing. His latest song on the records is entitled: "My Girl From Houston." This song is on sale in Monroe at Hewitt Due Music Co., 108 Catalpa Street, Monroe, as well as in other cities throughout the country.

It is said to promise making a decided hit with music lovers. Mr. Marx has written many songs and at least four have made outstanding hits.

Mr. Marx has two sisters in Monroe who are Mrs. Sam Rubin and Mrs. George L. Spiro.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiro have just returned from San Antonio where they were guests of Mr. Marx.

NEW CHURCH WILL HAVE 1ST SERVICE

The first Sunday services of the newly-formed Parkview Baptist Church, meeting at present in the Georgia Tucker School auditorium, will be held today.

There will be Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., George D. Holland, superintendent, and preaching at 10:50 a.m. The morning service will be sufficiently short to permit the dismissal of the congregation promptly at 11:45 a.m.

There will be a night service at 7:45 and also B. T. U. at 6:30 p.m.

The pastor of the new church is Rev. C. P. Coaker.

MAY FAMILY HAS UNUSUAL PARTY

Gather In Arkansas Town For First Time In Forty Years

The members of the May family living in Arkansas and Louisiana had an unusual group assemblage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blakely, near Old Carolina Church in Nevada County, Arkansas, July 21, 1946. All of the ten children were together for the first time in over forty years.

The ten children are: Mrs. J. P. Warren, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Frank May, Monroe, La.; Mrs. T. E. Blakely, Rosston, Ark.; Charles E. May, Camden, Ark.; Mrs. C. M. Dunn, Bodcaw, Ark.; Grady May, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Mrs. E. C. Holloway, Oklahoma City, Okla.; J. M. May, Ft. Townsend, Okla.; and Mrs. J. B. Walker, Allen, Okla.

T. E. Blakely, C. M. Dunn, E. C. Holloway, and J. B. Walker, sons-in-law, were present as were Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Guthrie and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas May, Mr. and Mrs. Leo McStravie and son of Monroe, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jenkins and two children of Ruston, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Welton Startt and daughter of Snackover, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. John Gully and daughter of Prescott, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Dunn of Memphis, Tenn.; Mary Jane Dunn of Bodcaw, Ark.; and Ralph May of Ft. Townsend, Okla., all being direct descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Elmore May, pioneer residents of Nevada County.

Other relatives who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hitt and Mrs. Georgia Whitmore of Hope, Ark.; Mrs. J. A. Bailey, Clarence Marsh, Mrs. E. E. Shell, Mrs. Mary McPherson and Miss Effie Shell of Prescott, Ark.; and Mrs. J. A. Thomas of Monroe, La.

The ten children were all born on the Elmore May farm near Carolina Church, and most of them grew into manhood and womanhood in the same community and were at one time members of the Old Carolina Church.

At noon a long table was put up in the dining room and all guests served themselves from an assortment of home-raised and home-cooked food which cannot be surpassed anywhere.

GRACE CHURCH RECTOR HAS SECOND NAMESAKE

A second son born to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hayward at St. Francis Sanitarium, July 19 has been christened Edward Farren Hayward, III, the parents announced Saturday.

The new baby is named for his grandfather, the Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and his uncle, Lieutenant Edward Farren Hayward, Jr., who is stationed at Bayreuth, Germany, with the American army of occupation.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston Brown, of Memphis, Tenn.

SEASON IDEAL FOR GARDENING

Extension Horticulturist Says
This Summer Best In
50 Years

By G. L. Tiebout
(U. S. U. Extension Horticulturist)

I have been home gardening, growing vegetables for commercial use, and helping others to do so in connection with my duties with the Agricultural Extension Service of Louisiana State University for over fifty years now. As far as I can remember there never has been a season that equaled the one we have just experienced in having conditions more favorable for planting seed of vegetables for fall and early winter harvests. During May we suffered severe losses with our potato crop as it rained incessantly during the Irish potato harvesting season. The incessant rains continued through June and they have kept up well into July, as everybody knows. While we cannot anticipate what will happen in the future, we may be lucky in having enough moisture this year to take care of our summer planting of small seeds on the row in hills, or drills, where the crop is to grow and mature. That's why I am reminding you that one man's meat is another man's poison.

The heavy rainfall has damaged our big staple crop, cotton, beyond recovery, and if you'd ask a cotton farmer he would probably tell you it was the worst season he had seen in many a moon. As no one controls the weather, and the Victory gardeners and commercial truck growers take the weather as it comes along with everybody else, they cannot be blamed in revealing in the situation and making "meat" of it.

In some areas the tomato crop was so poor this year that growers were not able to can the normal supply. Let's hope that you Victory gardeners took advantage of the favorable planting season that just passed and that you planted the Dixie variety of tomato in hills on the moisture-firmed ridge where the crop was to grow and mature, and under no circumstances sowed the seeds in beds with the intention of transplanting the plants later. For if you intend to use a method of culture in growing your fall tomatoes that requires the handling of the plants that are to make the final stand on the row, you had better not try to grow any fall tomatoes at all. Conditions are against you at every turn, and by attempting to transplant during the hot weather, you are more likely to wreck every prospect of success. This is on account of spreading the dreaded Mosaic disease which is the greatest limiting factor in the production of fall tomatoes. Mosaic is very "catching."

A little later I am going to tell you how to prune fall tomatoes in order to keep from spreading the Mosaic disease. In the meantime you do everything possible in the interest of a successful fall tomato crop by not touching the plants that are to make the final stand. It is important to remember to thin the hill gradually as the plants begin to grow. Don't touch the plants that remain in the hill.

Further, let me remind you to control flea beetles in those hills that are growing on that moisture-firmed ridge. Flea beetles are likely to sweep from the older plantings in the garden to the young tomato plants and wipe them out over night. Keep these tomato plants well dusted with cryolite so that no such accident will happen to yours. You had better grow some fall tomatoes. Fresh tomatoes are likely to be 20, 25 or 30 cents a pound in the late fall at your grocery and you might just as well grow them yourself if you will listen to the latest methods of growing fall tomatoes. Just because you grow them a certain way in the spring doesn't mean that is the way to grow them in the fall. Conditions are different especially so with regard to temperature. In the spring you start out with cool weather and proceed to warm weather, but in the fall it is the reverse.

Now for more about your great opportunity to get seeds planted of All-year cabbage, green sprouting bro-coli, collards, Early Snowball cauliflower, and Long Island Brussels sprouts. If you expect to have a whole of a fall garden as well as an early winter one, get them planted on the moisture-firmed ridge where the crop is to grow and mature.

Captain EASY

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

WHEN CAPTAIN EASY THREATENS TO INVESTIGATE THE STOWDY MURDER CASE ON HIS OWN, DETECTIVE SERGEANT BULLWINK GROWS INDIGNANT.

LAY OFF THIS CASE, EASY, OR I'LL TOSS YOU BACK IN THE CLINK!

WHAT'S THE MATTER, BULLWINK? DON'T YOU WANT TO SOLVE IT?

IT AIN'T THAT THE LACKLEYS COULDN'T BE GUILTY, BUT AMACHOO! DETECTIVES EITHER GUM UP A CASE OR HOG THE CREDIT!

THEN LET'S GET TOGETHER! I THINK I CAN MAKE THESE SUSPECTS TALK-- BUT I'LL NEED HELP! IF YOU HELP, YOU GET THE CREDIT!

AND TAKE THE BLAME IF YOUR IDEA FLOPS, I SUPPOSE!

I'LL TAKE THE BLAME IF YOUR SKIN IS TENDER-- BUT MY IDEA WON'T FLOP!

AFTER EASY EXPLAINS HIS PLAN, HE VISITS THE HEAD OF THE TELEPHONE COMPANY.

I'M GLAD TO COOPERATE, CAPTAIN EASY... MISS DE HAVER WILL AID YOU?

THANKS, MR. PANNEL! NOW I'LL NEED ONE OF THOSE OLD WALKIE-TALKIES!

YOU GOTTA HAVE A LICENSE TO SEND BY RADIO-- EVEN WITH A WALKIE-TALKIE!

WE'RE NOT BROADCASTING, SO OUR SET-UP IS LEGAL WITHOUT A LICENSE!

LATER...

BY MERELY GRASPING THE PHONE CABLE, I CAN SEND CONTROLLED RADIO WAVES ALONG THE WIRE TO THE RECEIVER AT THE PHONE OFFICE!

SO THAT'S WHY YOU'RE USIN' A WIRE DOWN YOUR SLEEVE IN PLACE OF AN AERIAL!

ON CADAVER ISLAND

NOW WHAT'S THE MATTER, ED LACKLEY?

THAT HOOK-NOSED FELLER'S COMIN' ASHORE IN A BOAT, MARTA! AND HE'S BRINGIN' A COPPER WITH HIM!

I'LL GO UP TO THE HOUSE ALONE, BULLWINK-- THEY MIGHT RECOGNIZE YOU!

HUMPH! I'LL BE WAITIN'... YOU TAKE CARE OF BULLWINK, ED!

CADAVER ISLAND! EVEN THE NAME OF THIS PLACE GIVES ME THE HEEBIES!

EGAD, MARTHA! WHO, MAY I ASK, IS IN THE BATH-ROOM?

OH, A LITTLE GIRL. NAMED LILLIE-- SHE STAYED WITH US LAST NIGHT-- HER MOTHER IS OUT OF TOWN!

ARE YOU AWARE SHE HAS BEEN IN THERE MORE THAN TWO HOURS?

WELL, WHEN YOU WERE YOUNG, YOU DID A LOT OF PRIMPING, TOO!

IT TAKES TIME FOR A YOUNG LADY TO BATHE, WAVE HER HAIR, GIVE HERSELF A FACIAL WITH CLEANSING CREAM, MANICURE AND PAINT HER NAILS!

HMPH!

LILLIE IS JUST AT THE BOBBY-SOX AGE WHEN A GIRL WANTS TO LOOK HER BEST AND IS SENSITIVE ABOUT IT!

LILLIE? IS THAT HER NAME?

I'LL TELL THE CHILD ABOUT ONE OF THE GREAT BEAUTIES OF MY YOUNGER DAYS. THE INCOMPARABLE LILLIE LANGTRY--

WELL DO I RECALL HOW THE "JERSEY LILY" CONQUERED NEW YORK, PLAYING THE ROLE OF HESTER GRAZEBROOK IN "AN UNEQUAL MATCH".

I'LL TELL THE LITTLE GIRL HOW LILLIE SET THE FASHION FOR THE NATION FEMININITY EVERYWHERE COPIED HER GORGEOUS COSTUMES

WHERE IS THAT LITTLE LADY, MARTHA? DID SHE DEPART WHILE I WAS SHAVING?

OH, NO! SHE'S IN THE DINING ROOM! COME HERE, LILLIE!

GLAD TO MEET YOU, MAJOR HOOPLE!

HA! WHAT A LOVELY STORM! WELL, IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

OUR HEROES HAVE BRAINED SCHEME TO GET POWER FROM LIGHTNING TO OPERATE THE TIME MACHINE HAS EVERYONE ON EDGE

ALL RIGHT, BUD. ALLEY'S LOST ALL INTEREST IN SCIENCE FOR A WHILE, ANYWAY!

NICE WORK! I'LL GET HIM OUTA HERE BEFORE THAT THUNDER-STORM HITS!

I SHOULD DISCONNECTED THOSE LIGHTNING ROD LEADS, BUT THERE'S NO TIME NOW!

HERE IT COMES!

DOCTOR, WONNUG! MY STARS, WHEN DID YOU GET BACK?

JUST NOW-- SAY! WHAT'S GOING ON HERE, ANYWAY?? WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH OOP?

OH, WE'RE JUST BRINGING HIM OUT OF THE LABORATORY SO THE LIGHTNING WON'T GET HIM!

LIGHTNING'S NEVER STRUCK THE LAB YET! WHAT MAKES YOU THINK IT WOULD NOW?

LIGHTNING RODS, SIR-- OOP'S GOT THEM ALL OVER THE PLACE!

WHAT IN TARNATION WAS HE DOING WITH LIGHTNING RODS?

HE WAS TRYING TO RUN THE TIME-MACHINE WITH ELECTRICITY FROM LIGHTNING!

YOU MEAN... HE'S TRYING TO CHANNEL THUNDERBOLTS... THROUGH MY DELICATE EQUIPMENT... GREAT CAESAR'S GHOST!

AwwwK!!

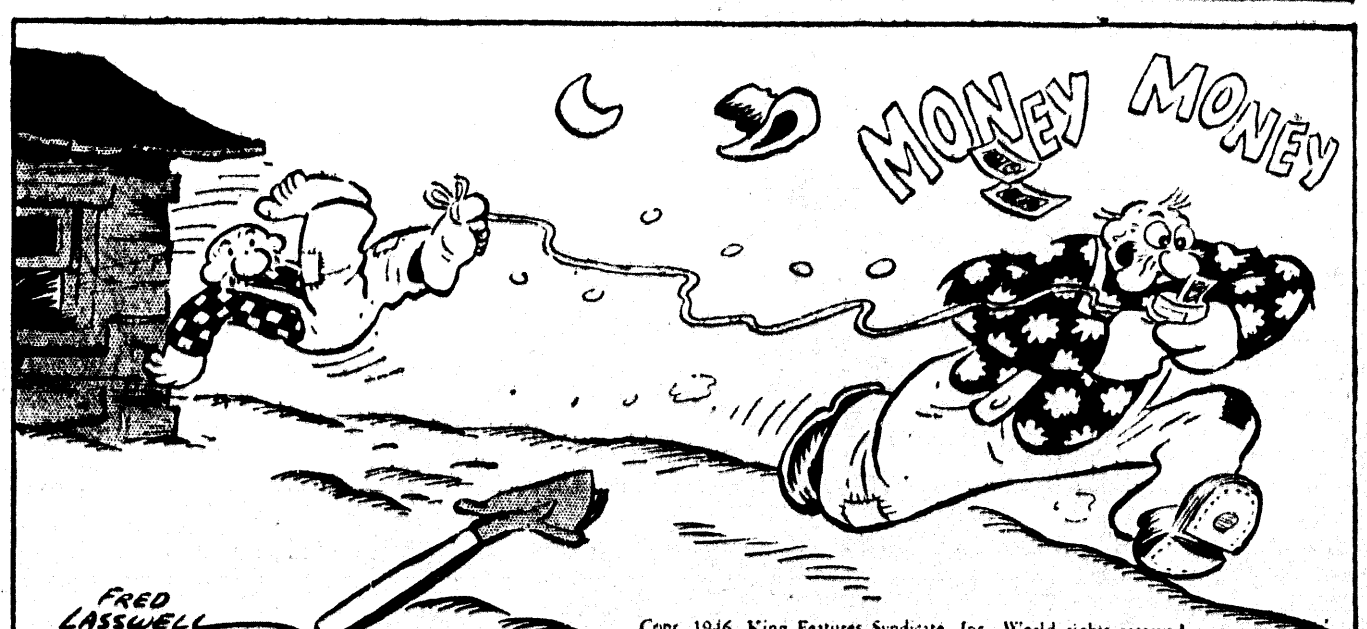

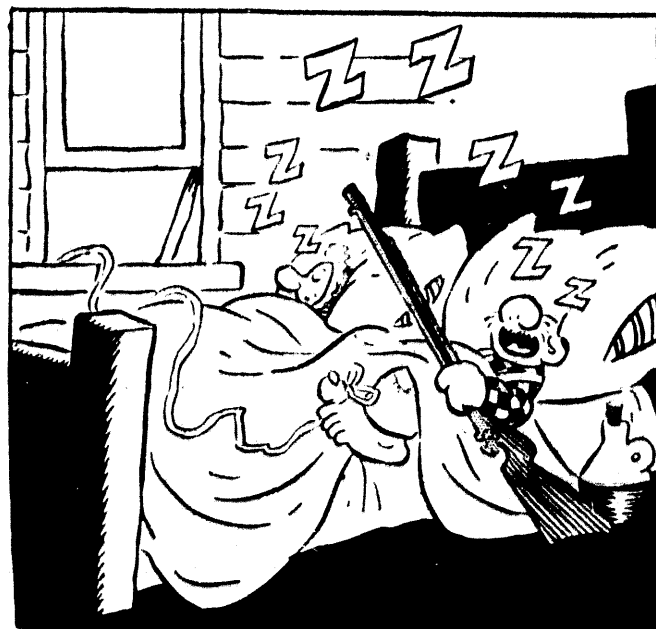

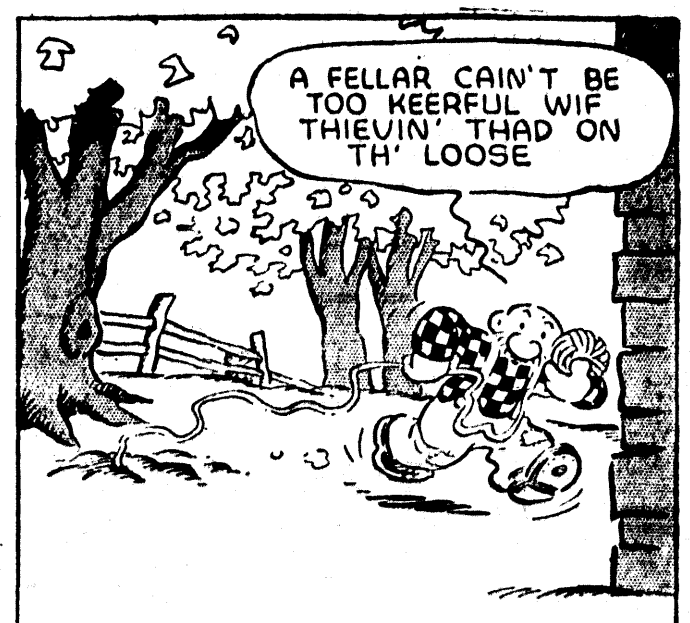

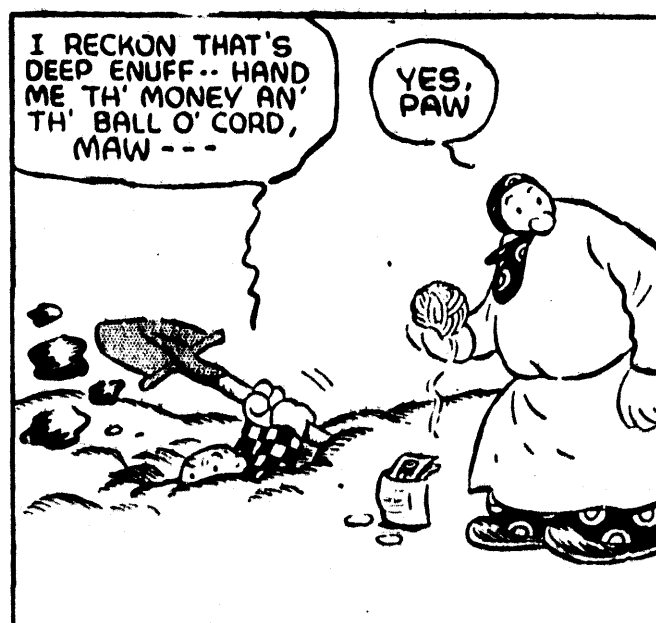

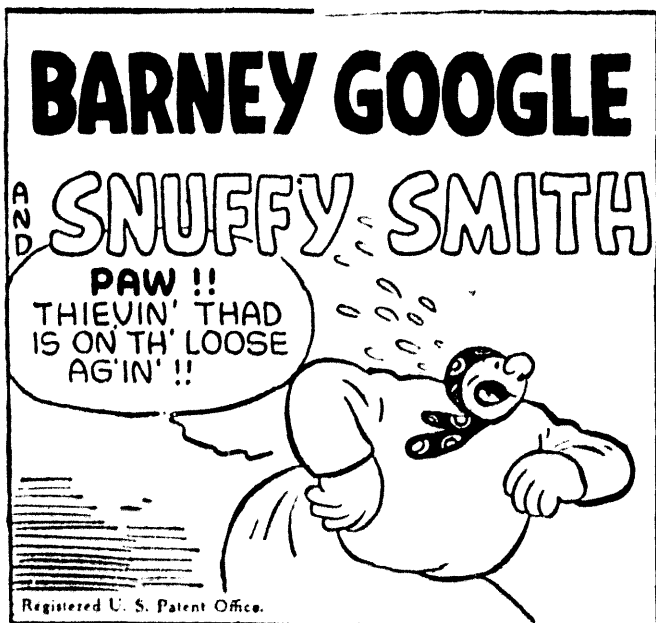

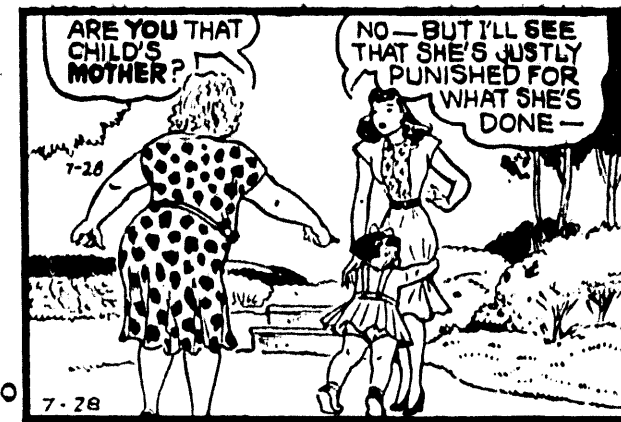

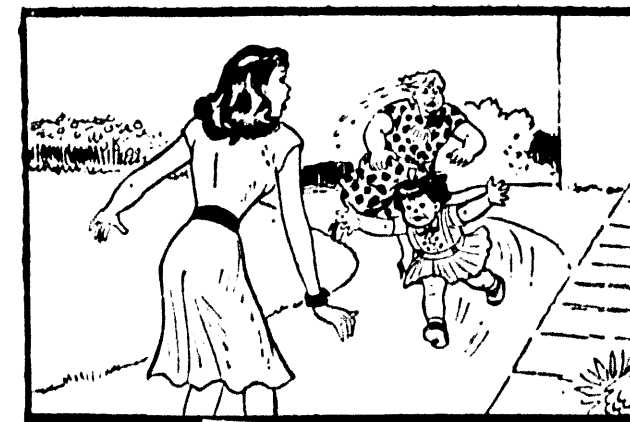

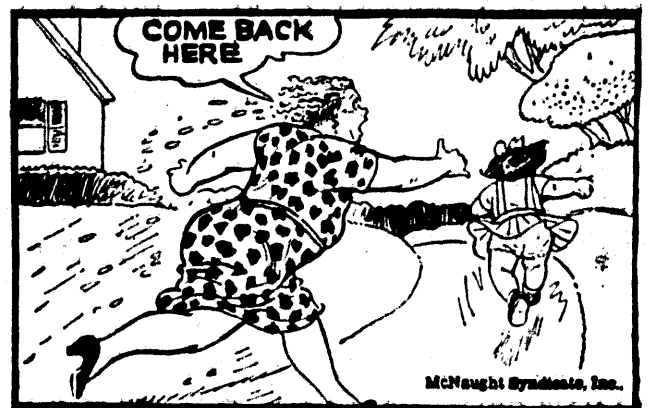

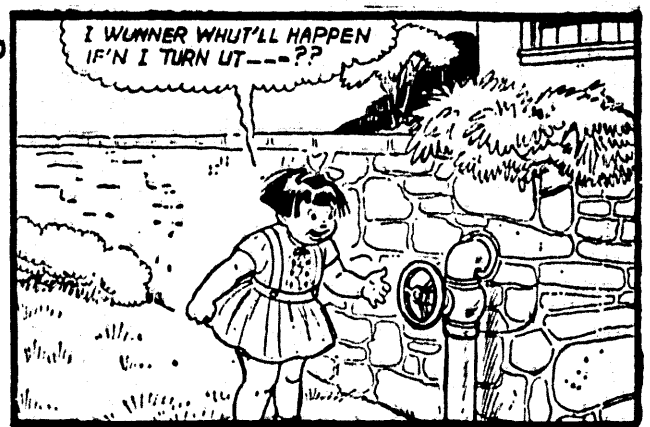

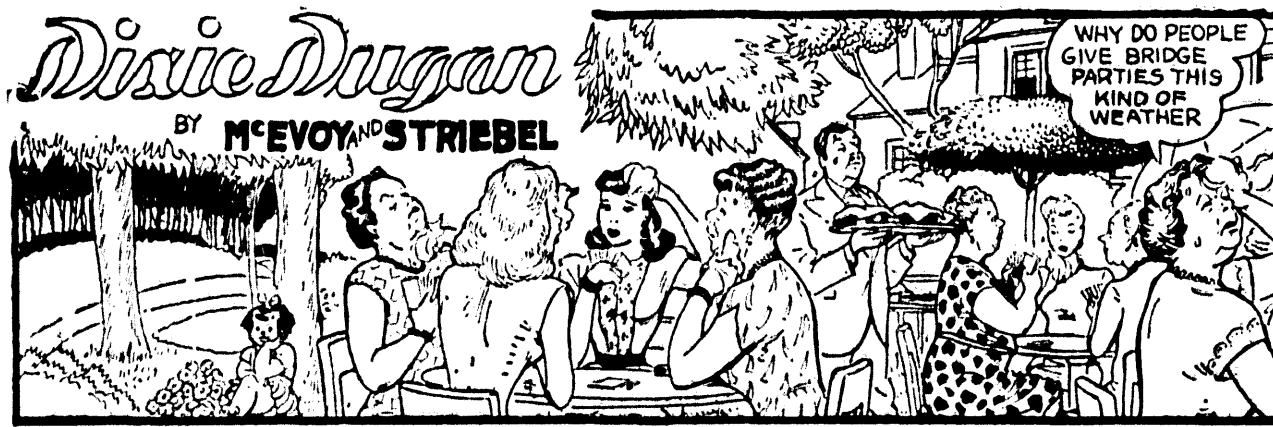

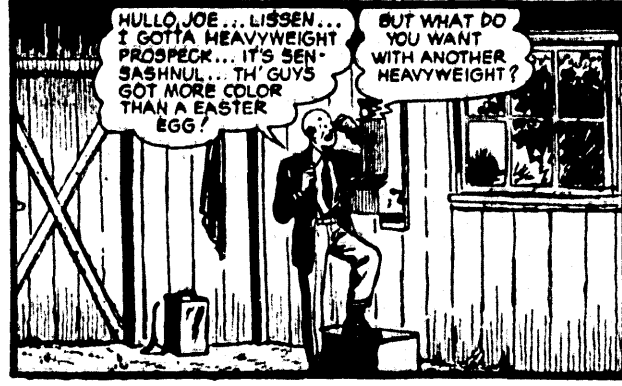

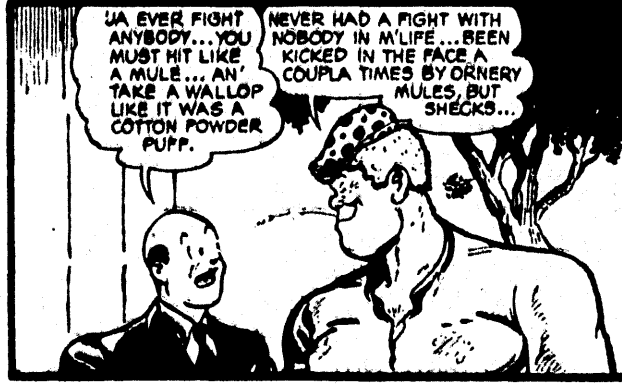

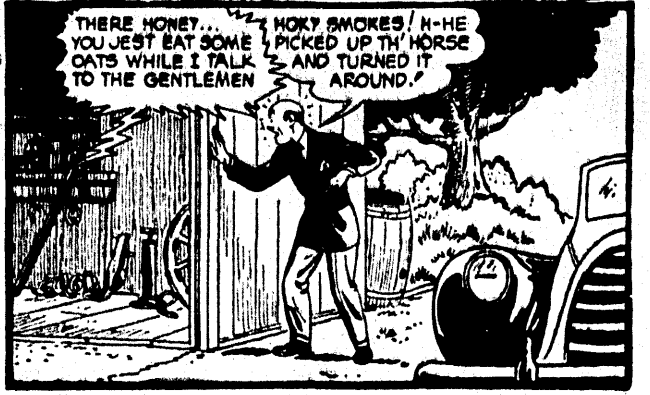

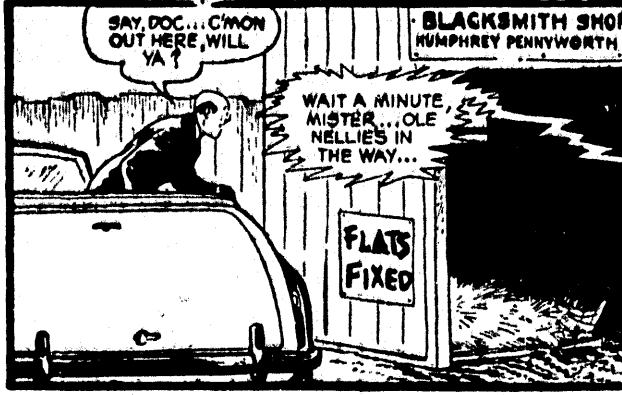

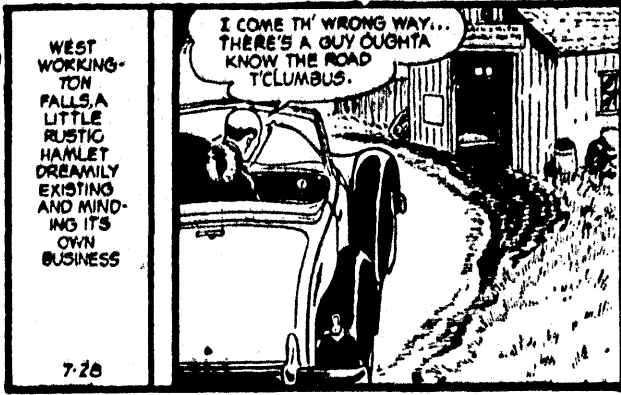

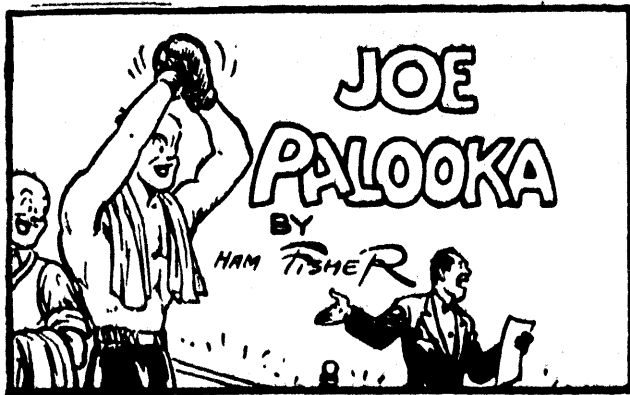

BUT, DOC, MY GOSH, YOU'D BE COMMITTING SUICIDE TO GO UP THERE IN THIS STORM!

OH, LOOK!

CRASH!

NOW THIS IS WHAT I CALL CLEVER -- JUST FOLD UP THE BOOK SHELVES AND THERE'S YOUR BATH ROOM!

WHAT IF SOMEBODY UNFOLDS 'EM WHILE YOU'RE IN THE TUB?

BUT YOU CAN'T TURN AROUND IN THIS KITCHEN!

IF WE HAD A DINING TABLE LIKE THIS, YOUR SISTERS WOULDN'T BE DROPPING IN FOR MEALS ALL THE TIME!

OH, SLUG! DON'T YOU WISH THIS WAS OUR LITTLE HOME?

WITH MONTHLY PAYMENTS?

I DON'T KNOW WHAT WE'LL DO WHEN JUNIOR GETS TOO BIG TO SLEEP IN THE DRAWER, BUT IT'S VERY HANDY AT NIGHT TO JUST REACH OUT AND GIVE HIM HIS BOTTLE!

AND AFTER THE PLACE WE'VE BEEN LIVING IN THIS SEEMS SPACIOUS!

I ALWAYS SAY IF THERE'S ONLY ONE CHAIR IN THE HOUSE ARNOLD WILL FIND IT!

THEY COULD HAVE MADE IT A LITTLE LARGER, IF THEY'D LEFT OFF THE WALL PAPER!

COME ON DOWN, SAMPSON! YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE RECREATION ROOM YET?

BUT, ALICE, IF WE DID BUILD A LARGER HOME, YOU'D JUST LAY MORE EGGS! NOW, WOULDN'T YOU?

I'D LIKE TO HAVE MORE CLOSET SPACE AND A SCREENED PORCH!

THE DAVENPORTS CAME WITH THE SET AND THEY HAD TO TAKE IT!

I JUST HAD TO GET OUT HERE WHERE I HAVE ROOM TO STRETCH!

FLASH CUTS OFF HIS BONDS--AND MARCHES GRIMLY TOWARD THE DOZEN DEATHS. QUEEN VALKIR HOLDS DALE PRISONER. VALKIR COMMANDS: "QUICK! ELECTRO GUNNERS! SHOOT HIM!"

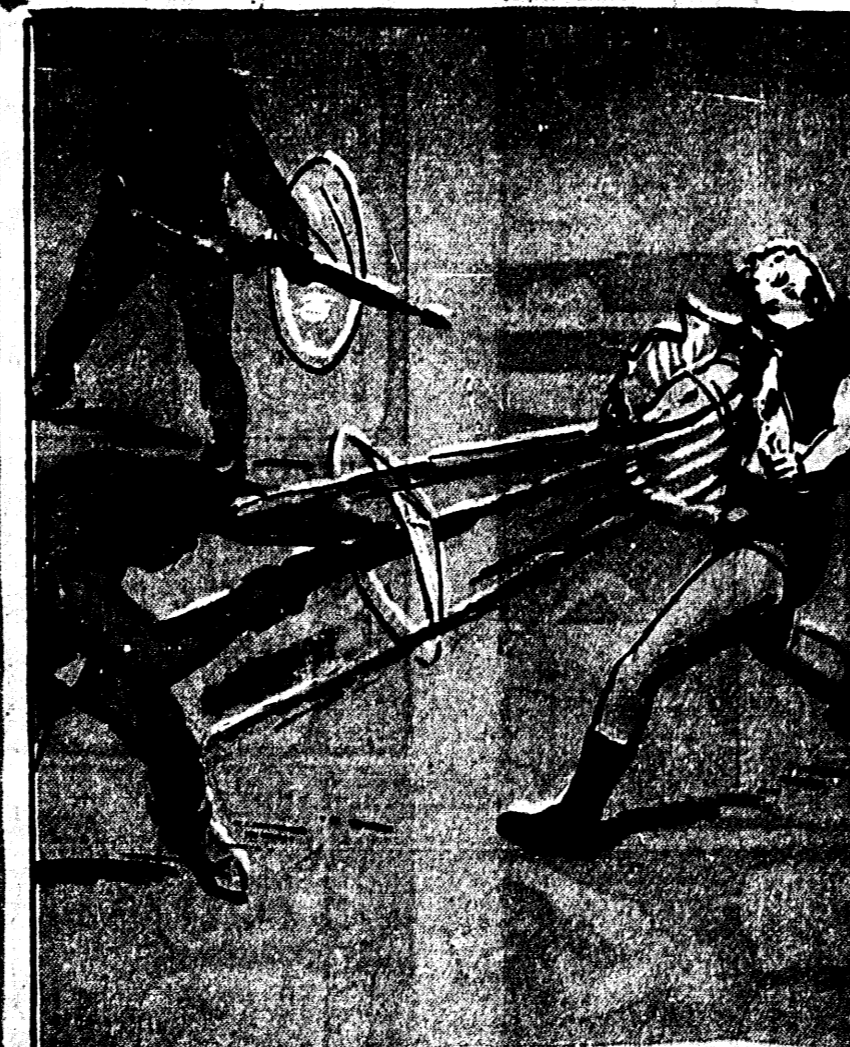

TWO GLADIATORS, SPURRED ON BY VALKIR'S PROMISE OF FREEDOM AND REWARDS, RUSH TO ATTACK FLASH WITH GLASS-SHIELDED ELECTRO-GUNS. A SUDDEN SHOCK NUMBS FLASH'S HAND AND DIS-ARMS HIM.

FLASH IS PLUNGED INTO THE SECOND OF QUEEN VALKIR'S ORDEALS IN THE "DOZEN DEATHS"--THE ELECTRO DUEL. UNARMED, HE TRIES TO SPOIL HIS ENEMIES' AIM WITH SWIFT-THROWN CLODS OF DIRT, AS HE DODGES THE PARALYZING BOLTS.

FLASH FINDS SHELTER BEHIND THE GLASSITE CAGE OF THE DEAD APEMAN--THEN, SURPRISINGLY, HE CHARGES FURIOUSLY AGAINST IT, BREAKING IT TO PIECES!

FLASH HOLDS A CURVED SECTION OF THE SHELL, SO THAT IT FOCUSES THE NEXT ELECTRO BOLT, REFLECTING IT BACK TO PARALYZE THE GUNNER.
